

THE SUPPER OF THE LAMB

READING GROUP – 2019

“We were given appetites, not to consume the world and forget it, but to taste its goodness and hunger to make it great...”

That is the unconsolable heartburn, the lifelong disquietude of having been made in the image of God.”

Robert Farrar Capon

We’ll begin on Tuesday, January 22 – and if you wish to be prepared, please read the first three chapters. If you don’t have time for that, no problem, we’ll spend about half of our time giving an overview of Capon as a writer and theologian. And we will spend time in the company of an onion – please bring a cutting board/ knife to the first session if possible. (If that makes no sense, you’ve further incentive to pick up the book and read on!) I have extra copies of the book for purchase.

I expect our group will be about 12-18 in number, which is ideal. We will meet in the Chapel Gallery of St. Matthias Church, 600 Richmond Ave. (Corner of Richmond/ Richardson) Enter by the side doors of the Chapel off Richardson St. We will gather at 7:00 PM with tea and treats. (Plan on 7-9 PM.)

The reading schedule is below. You’ll note the page totals increase as we progress through the five sessions. Fear not; it’s fun reading and goes fairly quickly (once you get used to his quirks!) And feel free to skim the bits where he gets into the details of the recipes... although they’re quite legit.
