Einstein Forgets Own Home

One day after Einstein had moved to his home at the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, N.J., the telephone rang in the office of the Dean of the Princeton Graduate School. The voice at the other end inquired: "May I speak with Dean Eisenhart, please?" Advised that my father was not in, the voice continued: "Perhaps then you will tell me where Dr. Einstein lives." My father's secretary replied that she could not do this, since Dr. Einstein wished to have his privacy respected. The voice on the telephone dropped to a near whisper: "Please do not tell anybody, but I am Dr. Einstein. I am on my way home, and have forgotten where my house is!" - Selected
