God's Special Purpose for Missionaries

Missions was God's original plan for the garden of Eden: "And God blessed them. And God said to them, 'Be fruitful and multiply and fill the earth and subdue it'" (Genesis 1:28). Adam and Eve were meant to expand the kingdom of God. After their fall into sin, even though the world changed, God's vision didn't change.

That's why he renews his vision through Abraham: "Now the Lord said to Abram, 'Go from your country and your kindred and your father's house to the land that I will show you. And I will make of you a great nation, and I will bless you and make your name great, so that you will be a blessing. I will bless those who bless you, and him who dishonors you I will curse, and in you all the families of the earth shall be blessed'" (Genesis 12:1-3). What is the final purpose of God's plan through Abram? "In you all the families of the earth shall be blessed."

Missions work has always been special to God. God has always been fundamentally driven by a missionary heart. Therefore, when he calls missionaries to do his work, he is calling people to participate in the work that has driven the history of God's work in the world from Eden to today.

"Sometimes the path HE chose for me has led through pleasant ways...Through peaceful valleys, quiet streams, with warm and sunny days...Sometimes the climb is steep and rough with darkness overhead...I know this path was planned for me according to HIS will; I've trusted HIM throughout the past and I will trust HIM still...And, someday HE'LL reveal to me the wisdom of HIS choice, then I'll know why this path was best and praise HIM, and rejoice."
