In Sure and Certain Hope

"Many of us are likely to know, love and care for those who will face difficult decisions and may choose to avail themselves of medically-assisted dying or to reject such an option. Either way, we as Christians are called to care, and in order to do that more effectively we need to learn to speak together about these issues with greater depth, clarity, and charity."

A Conversation about Medical Assistance in Dying

Led by the Rev. Joanne Webster
Associate Priest at St. Matthias
Chaplain at the Canterbury Foundation
