The KAIROS Blanket Exercise: A Workshop in Reconciliation

Join us for this participatory history lesson that builds awareness of our shared history as Indigenous and non-Indigenous peoples in Canada. It teaches a history of Canada that most people never learn, and participants come away with a deepened understanding of the denial of Indigenous peoples' nationhood throughout Canadian history. Because participants learn by "experiencing," the exercise reaches both the mind and heart and opens up possibilities for participants to learn how they can work towards reconciliation.
