In creating the new branding for Warrandyte Community Church, a key requirement was to incorporate the church's slogan - belong, believe, become. The concept behind the three rings is a visual representation of each of those three words. When looking into what those three words mean, a common symbol of a circle was prominent. The purpose of overlapping the three circles together was to show the importance of all three working together. The church's mission is for people to feel welcome and connected, to believe the Gospel that they teach and to be transformed and fulfilled by the Holy Spirit. Each of the three circles are imperfect, which is intended to illustrate how we are still human, we still sin, and it is only through the grace of God that we are saved.
