My journey to becoming a Christian began at Fraser Lands Church when my Grade 5 best friend invited me to attend AWANA. I accepted Jesus at Kidz Kamp when I was ten years old. In the past, I served as a small group leader in my high school and college fellowship and helped out in Children's Ministry at my previous church. Both my husband's and my faith in God serves as the foundation for our family. We now feel ready to take this next step to call Fraser Lands our home church. I want to obey God through membership transfer to Fraser Lands Church so that I can serve Him and His people. I hope that through serving, I can help children to come to know God as the One who loves them and will be with them throughout their entire lives.

I was born into a Christian family, in Vancouver, BC. My parents taught me good Christian values as I grew up, and I learned about Jesus through kids programs at church. When I was 8, my mother sat down with me in my room, and asked me whether or not I wanted to accept Jesus Christ as my personal saviour. I prayed to accept Christ into my life. As I grew older, through accountability buddies, serving in church, and small groups/fellowships, I began to realize the deeper significance of my relationship with Jesus. Now, with a family and young children, my goal is to be a reflection of Jesus to my children, and serving the Church is an important part of it. I desire to have my kids know that Jesus loves them more than they can imagine, and that He loves them just as they are.
