

For Reflection:

Most of us set limits on our love. If people want our love, they need to qualify for it. What are some of the limits you set on your love? Why do we do this?

Love, properly understood, is costly sacrifice. How have you shown such love in your family and other relationships.

Pray that God would transform your 'love with limits' into 'love without limits'. It would take a miracle!