Revelation 7

9 After this I looked, and behold, a great multitude that no one could number, from every nation, from all tribes and peoples and languages, standing before the throne and before the Lamb, clothed in white robes, with palm branches in their hands,

Christopher Wright

“The inhabitants of the new creation are not portrayed as a homogenized mass or as a single global culture.

Rather they will display the continuing glorious diversity of the human race through history: People of every tribe and language and people and nation will bring their wealth and their praises into the city of God.”

Michael Gorman

"Singing and praying in different languages with thousands of people, young and old alike, from around the world is always for me a foretaste of the vision of the multicultural heavenly people of God we find in Revelation."

Both Acts and 1 Corinthians speak to the reality, not of uniformity as we follow Christ, but unity in our diversity.

Revelation 7

10 and crying out with a loud voice, "Salvation belongs to our God who sits on the throne, and to the Lamb!" 11 And all the angels were standing around the throne and around the elders and the four living creatures, and they fell on their faces before the throne and worshiped God, 12 saying, "Amen! Blessing and glory and wisdom and thanksgiving and honor and power and might be to our God forever and ever! Amen."
