Church Family,

Happy Father's Day! Father's Day is the younger and lesser counterpart to Mother's Day. When considered together the two holidays offer a great lesson in the differences between men and women. In church services, for example, women are celebrated and flattered on Mother's Day, whereas men are pretty much just told to get their acts together on Father's Day. No one really seems to mind this arrangement.

This Father's Day I'm thankful for my Dad. He's my hero and I can think of no one I admire more than him. I realize I am tremendously blessed to be able to say that. One of my life's greatest goals is that my children will grow up and likewise be proud of me.

One of my favorite parts of every single day is tucking my kids in to bed. I always go to Delaney's room first. Every night she wraps her little arms around my neck as I lean over her bed and I pray these exact words: "Dear God, thank you for Delaney. Please help her to have a good night. Help her to be a strong Christian woman full of virtue, confidence, and love. In Jesus' name, amen." I can tell it makes her feel special. It makes me feel special, too. Then I kiss her on the cheek and walk to the boys' room.

Once there I take turns kissing each one on them on the top of the head and pray these words, "Dear God, thank you for Judson and Beau. Please help them to have a good night. Help them to be strong Christian men full of courage, conviction, kindness, and diligence. In Jesus' name, amen." Then I go to bed.

I am such a blessed man—more blessed than I could ever express. I have the best earthly Dad. I get to be a Dad to the best kids anywhere. And I have a loving Heavenly Father who guides and rules over my life with such wonderful, sovereign care. God is so good.

Again, Happy Father's Day.

—Bro. Deek
