“In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.” (John 1:1) KJV

In seminary, while studying Systematic Theology, one of the first concepts for all students to learn was God’s revelation of Himself to mankind. I came to understand that God makes Himself known as Lord through divine revelation, which is comprised of both general and specific revelation. God’s presence, mercy, and love is given to all people through creation and human nature, and to specific people through events, inspired human words recorded as Scripture, and Jesus Christ Himself.

God makes Himself known because He knows Himself perfectly as a personal, speaking God. God has clearly communicated about Himself to mankind through general revelation with His creation, and through human’s being made in His image. I have been blessed on many occasions to both see and feel God’s presence in His creation. Whether it’s the magnificence of the Grand Canyon, the awe of the ocean, the unbelievable sunrise atop Cadillac Mountain in Maine, or the crisp, vivid colors of the changing leaves of the Maple tree, God is revealed to all people.

God too communicates about Himself to particular people through special revelation, which includes the events of nature and history, human words that are inspired by God and recorded for us in Scripture. God’s greatest revelation took place through the person of Jesus Christ, who is the ultimate image of God. God came to man as a frail and vulnerable baby, but would later make His way to the cross, die for our sins, and defeat death through His resurrection. God has done His part as Sovereign King, it is now up to us to trust Him as Savior and make Him Lord. In Christ, Chris
