(aka The Diocese of Islands and Inlets)

The 99th Synod of the Diocese

For the Election of the Fourteenth Bishop

Saturday 26th September 2020

1) The Holy Eucharist

The Synod opened with the celebration of the Holy Eucharist in Christ Church Cathedral at 9:00 am with the Metropolitan, the Most Reverend Melissa Skelton, as the Presider. Due to the restrictions in place throughout the Province of British Columbia as a result of the global COVID – 19 pandemic, a limited number of officers of the Diocese, clergy and lay delegates of Synod were in attendance, in person, at this eucharist. Many other clergy and lay delegates were connected to this worship service through livestreaming. Each region of the Diocese held a concurrent celebration of the eucharist. The Metropolitan's sermon was made available to all clergy, delegates, and diocesan parishioners either being livestreamed electronically, by pre-recorded presentation, or through written text.

2) Opening of The Synod

The Metropolitan convened the Synod at 11:00 am. Members of Synod were connected electronically from various locations throughout the Diocese, to the balloting centre at Christ Church Cathedral. By means of a separate electronic feed, a livestream of the proceedings from Christ Church Cathedral was distributed through broad-band connection to anyone with access to the internet. The Chancellor, Robert Gill, outlined the work of the Episcopal Task Team, the actions taken by Diocesan Council, as the nominating committee under Canon 1.2g, and under Regulations 1.2.01 and Appendix C.

The Metropolitan led the members of Synod in prayer.

Instructions concerning further nominations stated that any nominations received after August 20th, 2020 would be considered as nominations from the floor. No nominations were received.

7) Nominations Cease

The Metropolitan declared that nominations were closed.

8) Balloting

Balloting was completed electronically or telephonically, under the guidance of Data-on-the-Spot, utilizing the SimplyVoting software, specifically designed for virtual balloting and results tabulation. Plans were in place in the event of a failure of the electronic voting platform. Before balloting closed with each ballot, a five minute warning of the close of balloting was sent electronically to each delegate of Synod. At the close of balloting for each ballot, the balloting was declared closed and the returning officer and deputy returning officer were instructed to receive the ballot results. Ballot results were provided to the candidates first, then distributed electronically to the delegates of Synod, and through the livestreaming portal to the general public, at the same time.

9) Balloting results

In all, seven (7) ballots were required to attain a majority in each of the two houses.

10) Election

After the results of the seventh ballot, the Metropolitan announced that a majority had been reached in each of the two houses and that Anna Greenwood-Lee had received majority support from both the clergy and laity. The Metropolitan asked Anna Greenwood-Lee if she would accept the will of the synod, that she become the 14th Bishop of the Diocese of British Columbia and received an affirmative response. The Metropolitan contacted each of the members of the Provincial House of Bishops and the Primate, Linda Nichol, to obtain their concurrence.

Following this, Archbishop Skelton announced that “we have an election.”

Donald Hunt, director of music at Christ Church Cathedral, offered the Doxology, Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow, on the Cathedral’s pipe organ. Due to COVID – 19 restrictions, there was no congregational singing.

The Archbishop asked if there were any challenges to the balloting results. None were received.

Bishop-elect, Anna Greenwood-Lee, was then connected by livestream (through ZOOM Chat) into the proceedings, to offer a few words.

Joan Hoffman moved a motion of thanks, seconded by Paul Schumacher. The wording of this motion is attached to these minutes, as an addendum.

Archbishop Melissa Skelton offered a blessing.
