

what i can see from here in first attempts to learn it is answers we seek asking with plain expectations

no complexity on us our expectations are simple and direct our not knowing is but inconvenience but with learning comes experience through canyons of complexity and the difficulties of description our understanding slowly grows with harrowing's revelations and persistence pervades we are surprised at truth's complexity and its appropriate hiding places

jock mctavish
31 jan 22