Special Thanks

We want to thank all those students who started this production with us in 2020 but were unable to continue after we resumed this Spring. We have students who graduated and moved on to university in other locations, students who have moved away and students who have other commitments. We appreciate all the time and effort you put in and the show wouldn't be what it is now without your contributions in 2020.

A huge thank you to all those who have stepped forward to help with time, talents and donations. No show is possible without the help of many unseen hands!

A very special thank you to the Southwood Church Council & Congregation who continue to give us their enthusiastic support.

DISNEY'S BEAUTY & THE BEAST Is presented through special arrangement with Music Theatre International (MTI).
All authorized performance materials are also supplied by MTI. www.MTIShows.com

Director's Notes

Dear audience. I have been waiting 26 months to write these notes, and I am so very happy and grateful that they are finally in your hands to read!

Like everyone across the globe, we could not have imagined what would transpire after we began rehearsing this production in January 2020. Our original production held its last rehearsal March 11, 2020, and three short days later we made the difficult decision to press pause, with no idea it would be nearly two years before we could play again.

Over that time, we've been like the objects trapped in the castle, waiting for someone to break the spell. Time seemed to stand still and march forward all at once. Since March of 2020 some of our students have graduated high school and started university, others have transitioned from elementary into junior high or from junior high to high school. Some completed their university degrees! Still others have worked front line jobs, or in health care or education throughout the pandemic. Some of our students were unable to continue for a variety of reasons. BUT ... the show must go on. Many of our original company are still with us and new faces have joined in the fun. We're grateful of every one 'old' and 'new'.

It has been a strange and unusual thing to rehearse during this time: taking precautions to keep our space healthy, constantly thinking about and planning for contingencies, and having many more people away from rehearsals than in normal circumstances. It would be a fib to say it has not been stressful at time, but what has far outweighed the stress is the amazing way this cast has pulled together. The amazing company of actors, crew and production team you see (and don't see) before you today have supported each other, helped each other, encouraged each other, stepped in to fill in for each other, and it has been an honour and a joy to witness.

Each production is always greater than the sum of its individual parts. What you will see before you today is individuals who, each on their own, are unique and wonderful threads, who've come together to weave a beautiful tapestry.

This story from it's beginning to its end, is about looking beyond the surface to see what lies beneath, in others but first in yourself. So come away with us. Join us in a poor provincial town in 18th century France, and a faraway castle inhabited by delightful enchanted objects and a lonely, angry beast. Look beyond the surface to the heart and hard work that lifts this production up from the inside out. Enjoy our tale as old as time, our song as old as rhyme, our Beauty & The Beast.

PERFORMING ARTS

Same Philosophy—New Name—Broader Approach

Throughout the last two years while our program has been on hiatus due to Covid, our core leadership team (Corinne Nairn, Emily Sunderland, Cara Sterling and Robert King) have been dreaming, reimagining and expanding our idea of what our Musical Theatre Program could look like. Our new name brings with it an expanded and more holistic performing arts program which we hope will have a wider community impact, a renewed focus on community outreach (including food security), opportunities for local emerging artists, a focus on inclusion, and mental health, while continuing to create a safe, non-competitive, nurturing, and welcoming space for students and their families. Our hope is that this program will include wider access to low-cost, high-quality programming including some new and exciting initiatives such as workshops and perhaps some NON-musical performances!

To join our contact list for more information on upcoming program, please contact Corinne@southwoodchurch.ca

Students in our programs will continue to learn a variety of skills throughout the class/production process including: auditioning, basic vocal technique, acting, character development, theatre history and terminology and much more!

Class Fees : Fall - $50.00 per student. Spring - $100.00 per student.
Confidential bursaries are available.

All of our Musical Theatre Program Classes are open to Members of the church and the wider community.
