CALL TO WORSHIP

Creator God, you have made the earth
so that all may share in its yield
and have abundant life.

Among your gifts to your people are the soil and the water and the means to sow and reap.

You plant in your people the seeds of compassion
so they may share the earth's bounty with those in need.

You keep us mindful that the world's people have the right to food and the means to produce it.

In this time of harvest, O God,
gather us in.

Gather our care for each other,
and for your people everywhere.

As we lift our voices in prayer, word and song,
let us worship in gratitude.

HYMN Now Thank We All Our God VU 236 (pg. 7)

PRAYER FOR RENEWAL

Loving God, in the stories and prayers of scripture, we hear the longing of our ancestors for a world of justice, a world where those in poverty are fed,
where strangers are welcomed. Your people hunger
and thirst for righteousness, for the simple kindness

that honours all people, for your guidance and healing and wisdom. You satisfy our hunger with moments of awareness in our daily life: meeting us at table when we are fed, meeting us in the hand that is reaching out, meeting us in the call to pray for each other and in the baptism of a child. Great Spirit, remind us that you have chosen us to feed those in poverty, to care for those bereaved, to welcome the stranger and the refugee.
Feed us with your stories this day. Amen.

(W.MacLean, Christ U.C., Lyn, On. Adapted)

POSTLUDE Prelude on ‘St.Dunstan’s’ (Fred Bock)

Minute for Mission

Teetering on the Brink of a Global Hunger Crisis

The Problem is some have too much and others not enough!

Who was Jesus referring to when he advised his followers to pray:
“Give us this day our daily bread?” Who is the “us”?

“When we say the prayer, we often think ‘us’ refers to ourselves; after all, we are the ones praying. But I think Jesus, who had a broad view of neighbour and family, meant all of humanity,” explains Sarah Charters, Director of the United Church’s Philanthropy Unit, adding, “so I take it to mean ‘Give every one of us our daily bread.’”

God has already come through on that petition. There is enough food on the planet to feed everyone. The problem is that some have too much and others not enough.

It’s never been more urgent that we share. Food security has always been an issue, but the pandemic as well as wheat shortages resulting from the war in Ukraine have catapulted us to the brink of a massive hunger crisis.

Right now, more than 50 million people are facing starvation—almost double the number in 2019. One person is dying of hunger every 4 seconds.

In this critical time, your meaningful gifts through Mission & Service are put to work right away helping people meet immediate needs by providing emergency food hampers in times of crisis, stocking shelves at food banks, and serving good, healthy meals through various outreach agencies.

Your gifts also provide longer-term support and systemic change by teaching agricultural techniques, seeding community garden initiatives, and helping neighbourhoods set up systems to cope with the impact of conflict and climate change on their food systems.

As we teeter on the brink of a global hunger crisis, your generosity has never been more needed.

Please choose to do something meaningful this World Food Day, and make a gift through Mission and Service to help those who are most vulnerable.

Together as a United Church we can help build the world Jesus envisioned when he taught us to pray—a world where every one of us has our daily bread.

The United Church of Canada acknowledges that its buildings and ministries, from coast to coast to coast, are on traditional territories of Indigenous Peoples.

God of the seasons, you surround us with beauty and wonder: you smile in the ripening fruit, you dance in the tumbling leaves. Teach us to dance with you, to act justly and to share fairly, to love you in friend and stranger all the moments of our nights and days. (R.Burgess, Iona)

Now Thank We All Our God VU 236

Now thank we all our God, with heart, and hands, and voices,
who wondrous things has done, in whom this world rejoices;
who from our mother's arms has blessed us on our way
with countless gifts of love, and still is ours today.

O may this bounteous God through all our life be near us,
with ever joyful hearts and blessed peace to cheer us,
and keep us strong in grace, and guide us when perplexed, and free us from all ill in this world and the next.

All praise and thanks to God for all that has been given,
the Son, and Spirit blest who dwell in highest heaven,
the one eternal God, whom heaven and earth adore; for thus it was,
is now, and shall be evermore.

O World of God VU 258

O world of God, so vast and strange, profound and wonderful and fair, beyond the utmost each of thought but not beyond our Maker's care! We are not strangers on this earth whirling amid the suns of space; we are God's children, this our home,
with those of every clime and race.

O world where human life is lived, so strangely mingling joy and pain, so full of evil and of good, so needful that the good shall reign! It is this world that God has loved, and goodness was its Maker's plan, the promise of God's triumph is a humble birth in Bethlehem.

O world of time's far-stretching years! There was a day when time stood still, a central moment when there rose a cross upon a cruel hill; in pain and death love's power was seen, the mystery of time revealed, the wisdom of the ways of God, the grace through which our hurt is healed.
