Frequently Asked Questions

- Why did we build a new kitchen?
  - Firstly, community happens at the table, and food is an important part of living and worshipping with others.
  - Secondly, our previous kitchen did not meet building and food preparation codes, meaning that we were not able to use our kitchen in any capacity, including for ministry.
  - Bringing the space up to code, allowing the space to function as designed, and providing us the opportunity to minister and build community over food are the main reasons.
- What are the plans for the new kitchen?
  - We certainly have plans, but we would also like to hear from you! Please get in touch with us and let us know how you think the new kitchen should be used (office@stpauls-anglican.ca).
  - Now that we have a functioning kitchen, we are able to include it to rentals our Hall for wedding receptions and community events, and we are able to include food for our own functions.
- How much did the kitchen cost?
  - A commercial kitchen such as ours certainly comes at an expense, especially with buildings as old as ours and rising costs of labour and materials. With all of this in mind, we budgeted the entire project to cost approximately $225,000 with the understanding that this amount might be exceeded -- most of this budget was funded from the sale of our land to the City of Edmonton. In actuality it ended up costing $244,000, approx. 8% above our projections.
- Are there any outstanding costs to the renovation?
  - Nope! All work has been completed and everything has been paid for from our reserve funds. This fundraiser is to replenish those reserve funds.
