In Partnership with God

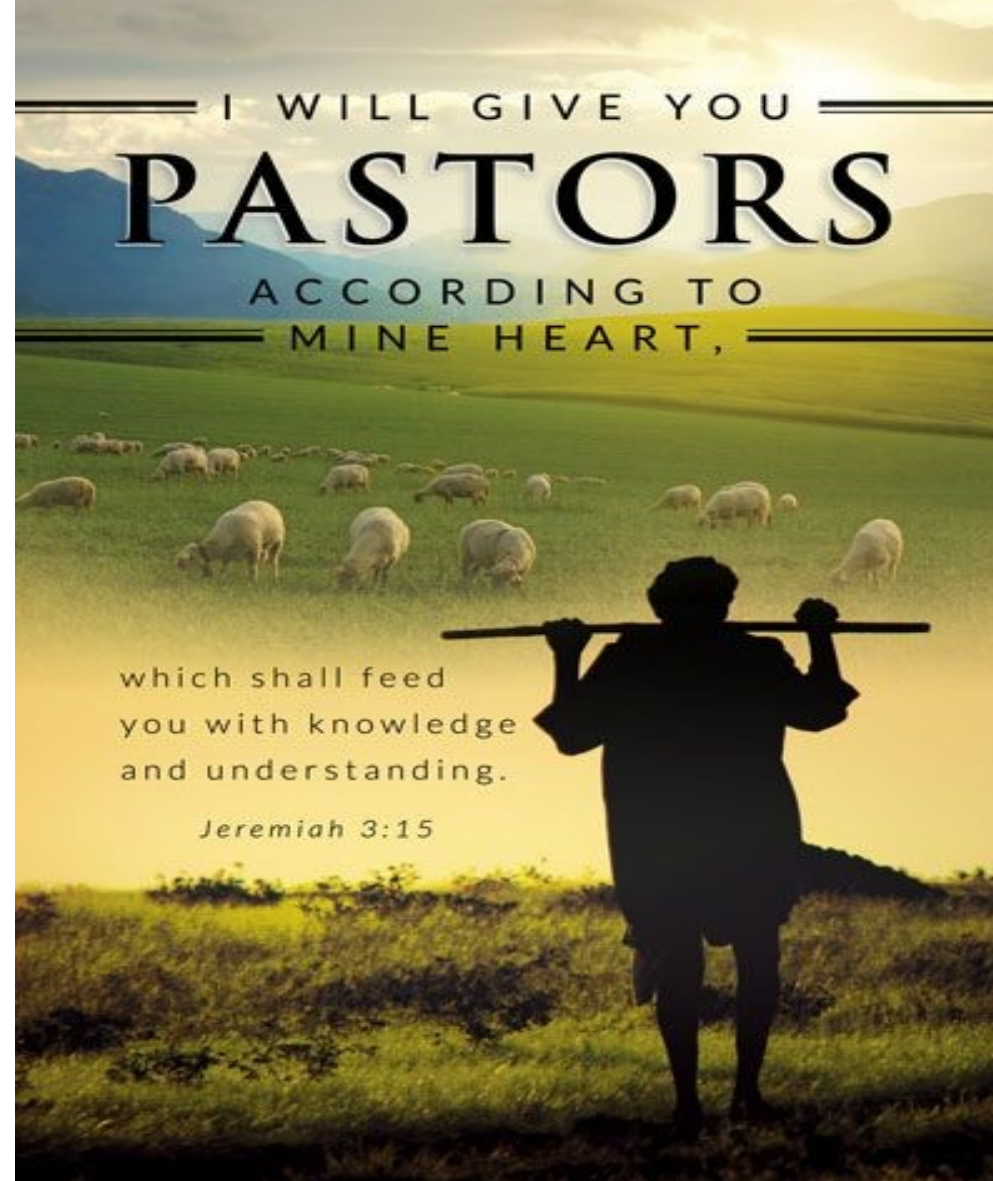

Your Father knows the things you have need of before you ask Him. -Matt 6:8

A man had transformed an over grown plot of ground into a beautiful garden and was showing a friend what he had accomplished. Pointing to a bed of flowers, he said, "Look at what I did here." His companion corrected him, "You mean, 'Look at what God and I did here.'" The gardener replied, "I guess you're right. But you should have seen the shape this plot was in when He was taking care of it by Himself!"

We chuckle at the man's reply, but it expresses a wonderful spiritual truth—we are co-workers with God. This applies to every area of life, including prayer. It answers a question that naturally comes to mind when we reflect on Jesus' statements in Matthew 6. He said we don't need to pray on and on with vain repetitions like the pagans, because our Father knows what we need before we ask (Matthew 6:7-8).

The question is, then, why pray? The answer is simple and comforting. God has graciously chosen to give us the privilege of being His partners in both the physical and spiritual areas of life. Through prayer we work with Him in defeating the powers of evil and in bringing about the fulfillment of His loving purposes in the world. Partners with God—what a privilege! What an incentive to pray!

Although God knows our every need,
His work He wants to share;
He takes us into partnership
By calling us to prayer. —D. DeHaan

ALL THINGS ARE POSSIBLE... MATTHEW 19:26

7 Ways a Congregation Can Love Their Pastor

1. Love his preaching. Nothing will encourage his deep study and prolonged faithfulness in the pulpit more than a people who love to hear God's Word preached. If you love his preaching, you should tell him. You need not worry about puffing him up. There are far too many other things in his life to pop that bubble. But you will help him and strengthen him if you tell him how God is using his ministry in your life.
2. Love his wife. Few things will encourage your pastor more than when you love the one he loves most of all. Remember that she helps to carry his load but is not paid for it. Love, honor, encourage, and thank God for this woman.
3. Love his family. You will not judge them or hold them to some higher standard. You will expect they need to hear the gospel as much as the others in the church. You will love them for who they are.
4. Love him with your complaints. If you love this man, you will learn to come in all humility and speak privately to him of your concerns. You will not make snide remarks or gossip or spread disunity. When you truly love someone, you can come to them quietly and submissively with honest questions and self-searching that allows for disagreements to lead to agreements.
5. Love him when you don't understand him. He is involved in all the intricacies of others' lives, and sometimes he know things about a person or a situation that he simply cannot divulge. Often, it is in these times when misunderstandings grow. Why aren't you doing this, or putting a stop to that? Why didn't you come when we asked? How come I have to wait so long to meet with you? If you love him, you will hope all things! Love bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things (1 Cor. 13:7).
6. Love him for a long time. A wise church will set her heart on loving their pastor for a long time. You must commit to loving him for the long term. Love him so much that he thinks to himself on his worst days, "I'd be a fool to move on from here!"
7. Love him because God loved you. The great motivation for our love is never what it gets us—true love is seen in Christ. "Therefore be imitators of God, as beloved children. And walk in love, as Christ loved us and gave himself up for us, a fragrant offering and sacrifice to God" (Ephesians. 5:1–2).

A Time for Everything Ecclesiastes 3: 1-8

- 1 There is a time for everything,
and a season for every activity under the heavens:
- 2 a time to be born and a time to die,
a time to plant and a time to uproot,
- 3 a time to kill and a time to heal,
a time to tear down and a time to build,
- 4 a time to weep and a time to laugh,
a time to mourn and a time to dance,
- 5 a time to scatter stones and a time to gather them,
a time to embrace and a time to refrain from embracing,
- 6 a time to search and a time to give up,
a time to keep and a time to throw away,
- 7 a time to tear and a time to mend,
a time to be silent and a time to speak,
- 8 a time to love and a time to hate,
a time for war and a time for peace.

Tricky Pastor!

One Sunday after the usual sermon, the pastor asked everyone in the congregation to prepare for next week's sermon. He said the subject would be lying and that everyone needed to read the 17th chapter in the book of Mark. Everyone uttered a sound of approval.

Next week after the congregational singing the preacher said, "If you read Mark 17 please raise your hand." And everyone in the congregation did. Then the preacher said, "Now I am ready to start my sermon on lying" And he stated "There is no Mark 17!"

Remember to read your Bible and to never lie to the preacher!
