

IMPACT Players Survey Responses

How have the IMPACT Breakfast Gatherings encouraged you or inspired you to grow?

I always leave the breakfast feeling better than I did before the breakfast. I find inspiration to improve many aspects of my life.

The combination of gathering as a large group (powerful to see many men attending), as a small group (table of 6-8), and the one on one's that happen before and afterward all contribute to the power of Impact.

Good food, good humor, and the good leadership of this group have been profoundly encouraging.

Inspired to grow as a leader in my workplace.

Being around other faithful men. That support is key especially in the Puget Sound area.

Great to see men of all ages and backgrounds gathering. This is a very inspiring!

The opportunity to rub elbows with other men who are seriously pursuing Christ is the most valuable thing about the breakfasts for me.

I appreciate getting together with other men. Something special happens when they come together and share experience and relationship around Jesus.

If you have participated in our IMPACT Cohorts, please describe how they have helped you grow personally as a man, husband, father, or leader?

The Cohorts have helped me pursue time with God in the Word. Mostly because I know I need to memorize the verse and have some good things to say about the passage for the week. But also, because the content is engaging and I find myself wanting to learn it in order to improve as a man/husband/father/leader.

I think I have achieved the most growth through the cohorts that I have been involved in. The fellowship at those cohorts has been amazing and the spiritual growth I have experienced has been incredible, I really enjoyed the cohorts and getting to know have a Christian man through that process of attending the weekly meetings

The cohort has been very impactful for me. It has helped me to develop a consistent reading of God's word daily. Our discussions have impacted my daily life as a father and a husband.

They have helped me want to be a man of integrity.

I love hearing from other men share their struggles and successes, realizing that I am "not the only one" going through something. Also, realizing that I am there for a reason, maybe to strengthen and encourage someone in the cohort that really needs it.

I have been challenged and grown through the cohorts, the topics that we discuss in the fellowship that has enjoyed the second to none and I really have benefited greatly from these groups in the fellowship and the topics that we cover in them.

Accountability has been great, the transparency started very well on the first day of the cohort meeting and has continued well as we have been praying for each other.

Accountability of spending time in the Bible, memorizing verses, and sharing best verses all help to keep men grounded in the word.

An iron sharpening iron get together of men who love the Lord.

We've got a lively, interactive group!

Studying together with other men and learning from them is a fantastic way to grow.

The IMPACT Cohorts have given me hope and brought me closer to my family.

The biggest benefit for me is to be able to walk through life knowing that my burdens are shared by my brothers around me. Life gets overwhelming sometimes. I'm glad I'm not alone, and I'm eager to support my brothers too by reaching out to them and praying for them and letting them know that I care about them.

The Cohort meetings as well as the breakfast are a way to 'pull it out of high gear' and reflect on family and work relationships as well as my general approach to people.

Great accountability too for more consistency in chewing on scripture and figuring out how God wants me to live and where my heart should be.

The IMPACT studies are original, on-target, challenging, and appropriate.

Why do you believe investing in this work is worthy of your time, talent, and treasure?

If it's helpful to me then it is helpful for others and I want to support that, especially for men who need support.

Aligns with my personal passion

I support Impact Players because men today desperately need a place to connect in a meaningful way. I see the fruit of this ministry, I am a "fruit" of Impact.

Having an executive director that is focused solely on this ministry has been a game changer.

IMPACT has helped me grow as a Christian and a man, and given me confidence living my everyday life. I am more intentional about my responsibility as a teacher and coach in my job and business.

I do not believe there is a place one can contribute that will have more impact for the kingdom.

True biblical values promoted in a specific way to impact men where they are.

Men's needs are being met!

The personal growth benefit I'm receiving is worth much more than my current donation amount. I intend to increase my giving in the future

I believe Christian men have the ability to make a huge impact on our world. I like that IMPACT is focused on providing a place to make an impact on men.

This is so desperately needed, for all of us men. Thank you

I believe in the people who are leading this effort and their love for the people who joined it.

There are not many outlets for men to speak with other men about important issues, I support it for that reason.

It REALLY is empowering men to be better fathers, husbands, and leaders using biblical truths!

I give because I enjoy seeing men's lives and families changed for the better in real time.

I support IMPACT Players because I believe we need more of this across the area.

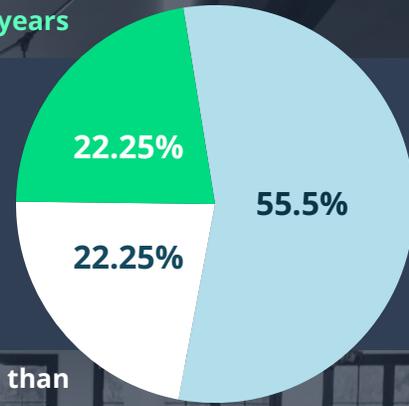

There aren't many groups that share cross-generational wisdom like IMPACT does, and the younger guys need encouragement and wisdom from the older generations.

It's so helpful to have the these gospel centered cohorts and breakfasts to invite someone to in order to grow with other men

IMPACT Players has reached thousands of men over the past 17 years. How long have you been involved with IMPACT Players?

More than 5 years

2-5 years

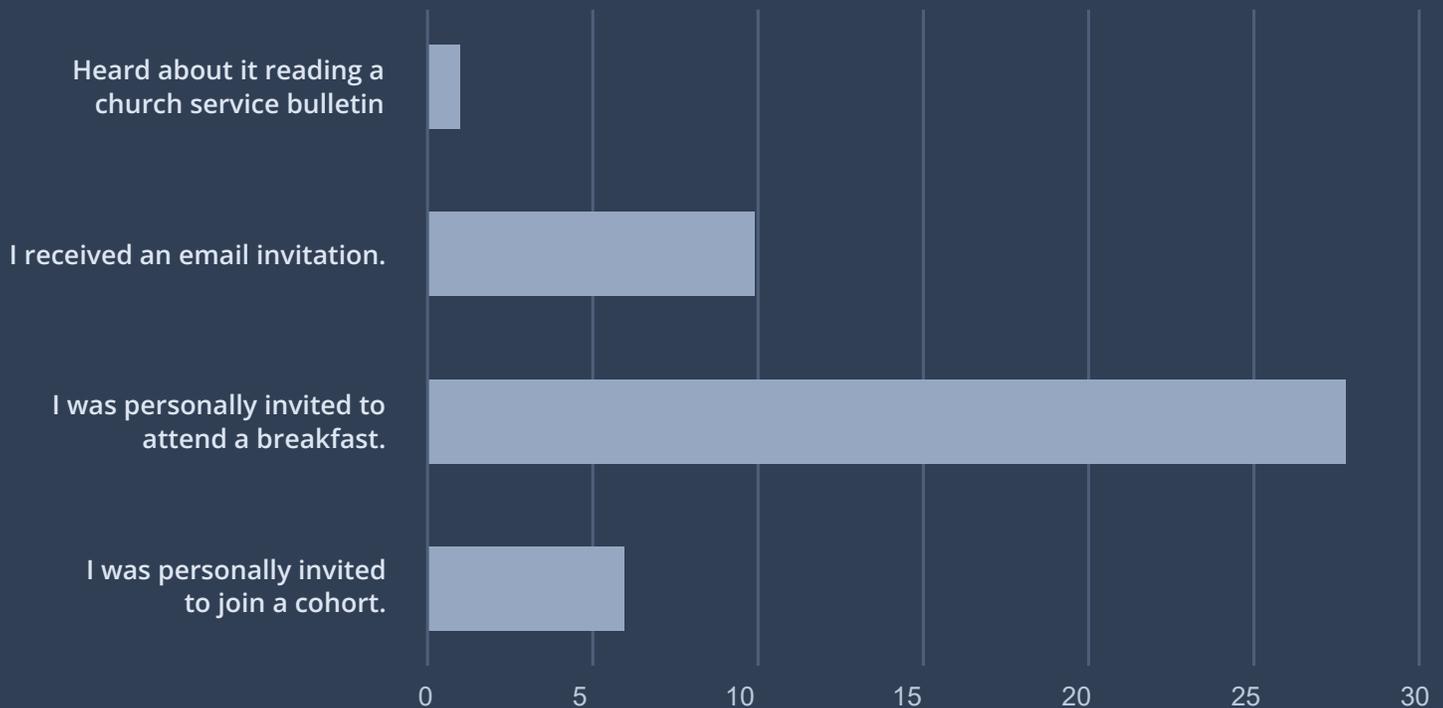

Less than 1 year

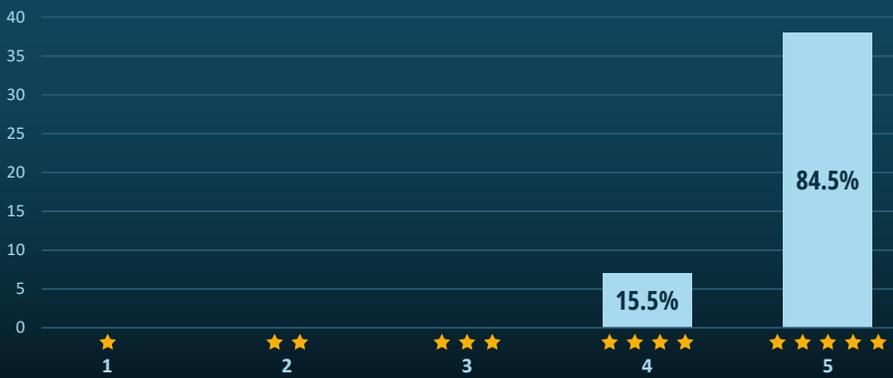

45 Responses

How did you get connected to IMPACT Players?

45 Responses

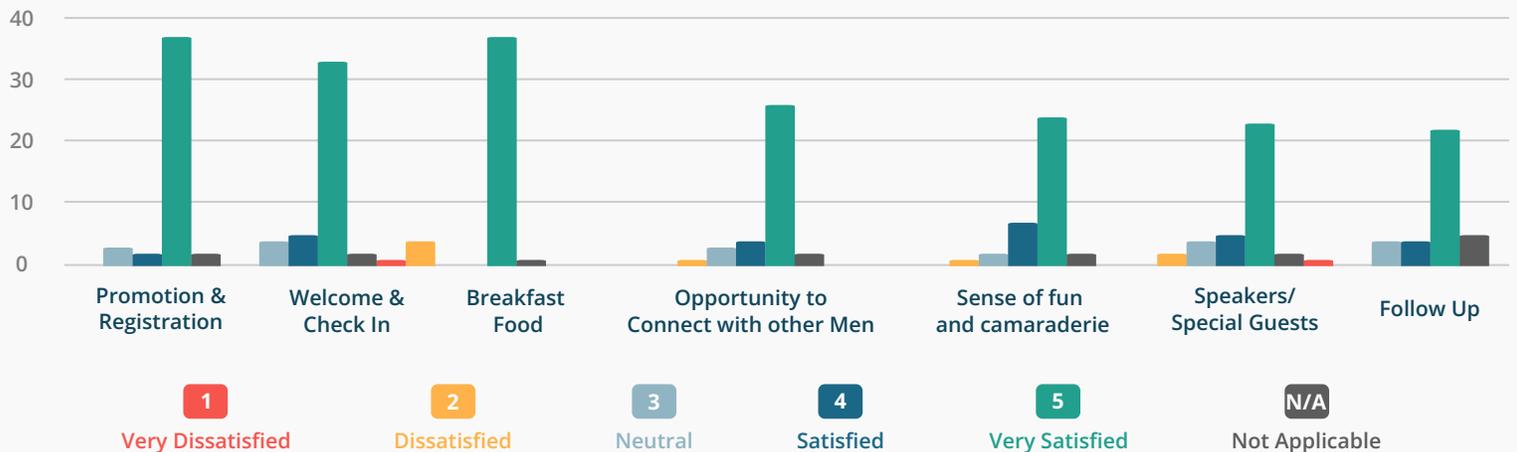

How likely are you to recommend IMPACT Players to another man in your community?

45 Responses

How satisfied were you with the IMPACT Breakfast experience?

Our goal is to encourage and equip men to grow in the relationships that matter most. Let us know how we are doing.

Our Coaching Cohort curriculum is original content written by IMPACT Players. We now have over 15 original content studies geared to help men grow.

How helpful has this content been in helping you grow as a husband, father, and leader?

