

Be Still, My Soul

Psalms 46:10

Introduction

In the midst of any circumstance, the Word of God helps us to be still and take all our cares to Him. Even when God's answer is different than expected, He is still omniscient, omnipotent, and omnipresent, and His promises bring peace and joy. The hymn "Be Still, My Soul" encapsulates the truth of God's nature and character, reminding us of His incomparable greatness.

1. Steadfastness

Through Scripture and song, this document emphasizes God's steadfastness and faithfulness, reminding us that He is on our side and will not leave us, no matter the circumstance. He will keep us in perfect peace and will perform the good work He has begun in us until the day of Jesus Christ. We can trust in Him, knowing He will not change and will lead us through thorny ways to a joyful end.

2. Strength

God's strength is capable of stilling our souls and controlling every element of prophecy and promise, which is fulfilled in the redemption of Jesus Christ. We must trust in God's will and strength, which is sufficient to keep us in the face of affliction and will eventually be revealed in glory.

3. Supply

God's supply is quantified not by what is present, but by what is seemingly missing in our lives. God is capable of filling the seemingly impossible chasms of hurt and grief, and He will faithfully supply all that He has taken away. He owns the cattle on a thousand hills and manages the stars of the sky, and He is able to pinpoint the grief of our hearts and fill the chasms of our lives. As seen in the book of Job, God is willing to be on trial as to whether He is good, and He is ultimately revealed to be good and capable of supplying all that we lack.

4. Salvation

Through times of suffering and affliction, God teaches us to look to Him and trust Him, and when we stand before Him in eternity, we will understand that it was worth it all. Salvation is not just something for the future, but something that can be enjoyed now, restoring our souls and wiping away our tears.

Conclusion

God's word and strength can bring peace and stillness to those who grieve. As the body of Christ, we are called to rejoice with those who rejoice and weep with those who weep, helping each other find peace and stillness in God's character. However, if peace is missing, it is because we have rejected the gift of Jesus, who invites us to come to Him and find rest.
