COMPASSION

Virtue: That right inner disposition that relates to who we are as people, and to our character.

Why? Virtue promotes the enhancement of the human person beyond what has been imposed upon us by societal standards, dominant ideologies, and our own past wounds. Virtue teaches us that we must think, act, and speak based on moral principles, not based on how society or the media tells us to.

They enable us to pursue the ideals we have adopted. Honesty, courage, compassion, generosity, fidelity, integrity, fairness, self-control, and prudence are all examples of virtues. How does a person develop virtues? Virtues are developed through learning and through practice.

Virtues are important because they are the basic qualities necessary for our well being and happiness. By recognizing the importance of virtues, in our lives, it will lead to better communication, understanding and acceptance between us and our fellow man.

V.3 -“His divine power has given us everything we need for a godly life through our knowledge of him who called us by his own glory and goodness.

2 Peter 1:3-9

V.4 - Through these he has given us his very great and precious promises, so that through them you may participate in the divine nature, having escaped the corruption in the world caused by evil desires.

2 Peter 1:3-9

V.5 - For this very reason, make every effort to add to your faith goodness (moral excellence); and to goodness, knowledge; 6 and to knowledge, self-control; and to self-control, perseverance (patient endurance); and to perseverance, godliness;

2 Peter 1:3-9

V.7 - and to godliness, mutual (brotherly) affection; and to mutual affection, love.

8 For if you possess these qualities in increasing measure, they will keep you from being ineffective and unproductive in your knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.

2 Peter 1:3-9

V.9 - But whoever does not have them is nearsighted and blind, forgetting that they have been cleansed from their past sins.

2 Peter 1:3-9
