Still Love You

By Michael Orr

I

I still love you, always have, and always will,
Always looking, listening, waiting, hoping by the windowsill.
My tears keep falling, my sorrow deepens, my heart has sunken low.
But I will love you, still love you, far more than you know.

I still love you, though you left me without a word.
Bonds cut and broken, things left unspoken, never a voice was heard.
You rejected all that I loved and truly held dear,
But I still love you though I haven't seen you, year after year after year.

I still love you, your face perfectly etched in my mind,
Though you've left family, friends, and loved ones behind.
I never stop dreaming of the day you come home,
Because I will love you, still love you, no matter where your heart may roam.

I still love you, though all others may cast you away,
And I hope earnestly for your return each and every passing day.
The day I run to embrace you, rejoicing to see your smiling face,
For I long to bless you, hold you, and fill you with kindness and grace.

I still love you, though the hour of judgment approaches,
Still love you, though the last day now encroaches.
But I still love you and for you, till the end will yearn,
For I will love you, still love you, and I long for your return

Vision from the Elders

We are in the business of life changes. It is our prayer and hope that through worship, church community, encouragement, and engaging our neighbors we will be God's hands and feet as He opens the doors for us to share the Gospel and become more like Jesus.
