Workshop Guidelines

The workshops are intended to be an opportunity for people across the diocese to share ideas and experiences. The facilitators have been chosen because of their expertise and knowledge in the subject matter, and so it is hoped that they will be able to offer ideas and suggestions. But equally, we do not want these workshops to be lectures and the facilitators have the job of leading discussion and enabling all voices to be heard. It should not be expected that they will have all the answers!

Please come to workshops ready both to learn from one another and to share the experiences of your own parish (both good and bad). If you can bring examples of something that has happened in your parish, that will be great, but please remember that others will need the time to share their experiences as well.

Let us celebrate all that is good which is happening in our parishes and let us have the readiness to learn from others and to take what we learn back to our own parishes and situations.
