

RE-IMAGINING THE SCRIPTURAL PAST IN THE DEAD SEA SCROLLS

Tuesday, February 23, 2016 | 7pm–9pm

Northwest Building Auditorium, Trinity Western University
7600 Glover Rd, Langley BC

The Dead Sea Scrolls provide fresh perspective on both the words of the Old Testament and ancient Jewish world of the New Testament. Scripture is at once ancient and sacred, yet its contemporary relevance is not always evident. Our speakers will detail how ancient writers encountered and innovated the biblical past by extending prophecy, claiming revelatory dreams, rethinking covenant theology, crafting and circulating letters, and jointly reflecting on the relevance of the Dead Sea Scrolls today.
