

Bible Study as a New Christian

That's great to hear that you're interested in studying the Bible as a new Christian! Here are some steps to get you started:

1. Choose a Bible Translation:

There are various translations of the Bible available. Some popular ones include the New International Version (NIV), King James Version (KJV), God's Word (GW), and English Standard Version (ESV). Choose one that you find easy to understand.

2. Start with the Basics:

Begin by reading the Gospels (Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John) to learn about the life and teachings of Jesus Christ.

3. Set a Reading Plan:

Create a schedule for your Bible study. You might start with a chapter a day or a specific amount of time, like 20 minutes, to read and reflect. I like taking it one story at a time and using SPECK (Sin to avoid, Promises to keep, Examples to follow, Commands to keep, and Knowledge of God).

4. Take Notes:

As you read, jot down any verses or concepts that stand out to you or that you have questions about.

5. Seek Guidance:

Find a mentor, pastor, or a more experienced Christian who can help answer your questions and provide guidance.

6. Join a Group:

Consider joining a local church or small group Bible study to connect with other Christians and learn together.

7. Use Study Resources:

Utilize study Bibles, commentaries, and online resources (such as Bible Hub) to gain deeper insights into the scriptures.

8. Pray:

Prayer is an important aspect of your relationship with God. Spend time in prayer, not only asking for understanding but also in worship and thanksgiving.

9. Stay Consistent:

Consistency is key. Don't be discouraged if you don't understand everything at once. Bible study is a lifelong journey. Also, don't beat yourself up if you miss a day or two, just keep going where you left off.

10. Apply What You Learn:

As you grow in your understanding of the Bible, strive to apply its teachings to your daily life.

Remember that Bible study is a personal and spiritual journey, and it's about building a relationship with God. Take your time, and don't hesitate to ask questions or seek guidance from fellow believers.
