

Who Am I?

Romans 8:14-17

When Nero was emperor, Paul wrote to the Roman church. The Romans aligned themselves with the Roman king and autocratic rule. We Christians are children of the Most High God and we must remember that.

We must remember that we are of God first and the Holy Ghost offers us the Spirit of adoption. Jesus reclaims us and reconciles us back to the Father as we receive him as Lord and Savior.

Our relationship with him is not about just going to church. We become heirs and can call him Abba Father. We suffer with him, yet we will rise with him and live for eternity with him. We may experience a lot of suffering, but there will be a lot of heaven. We may experience a lot of pain, but there will be a lot of glory. We will die to self and flesh, so there will be a lot of heavenly spirit.

The reason why we struggle and fight over miniscule things is because we do not know our glorified selves. We are dressed in royal garments. God made us alive in Christ because of his love and mercy toward us. We are already seated in heavenly realms.

Jesus modeled what a child of God is. The Father put holiness, righteousness, meekness, and humility in Jesus. As our older brother, we can follow his example, because he is trusted, tried and true.

Know that Jesus and the Father awaits us. He has reserved a mansion in heaven for us. We must prepare ourselves for kingdom living and don't just do church only. God is looking at you and I. One day we will see the lamb slain before the foundation of the world, and we will take up residence in our place in the kingdom.
