CHURCH PICNIC UPDATE

BY: DON STEPHENS

On Saturday July 12, 2025 NBAC held its annual picnic at Wagner Park in Duncannon. The day started out as many have this summer, with humidity and heat more typical of Florida than Central Pennsylvania. Shortly after the picnic started, a gentle and cooling breeze picked up, turning an intolerable afternoon into one that made the fifty-eight congregants who attended thankful that we have a God who provides - our God is good!

Hot dogs, hamburgers, and Karns fried chicken were the stars of a food offering that spanned three tables; numerous summer salads completed the spread. Vanilla, chocolate and raspberry ice cream could be found in a small trailer that was parked next to the cabana and was provided by Hall's Ice Cream of Millerstown. Cookies and a variety of sweets were also offered to those seeking to satisfy their sweet-tooth cravings. There may have even been a pie, but Brian Kish was not consulted in the writing of this article, so that might have only been a rumor.

While the adults sat in the shade and exchanged stories, the children were cleverly made to take baths. Josh Simmons laid 30 feet of plastic on a slope next to the cabana and pumped water from a nearby stream onto the plastic, making a slip-n-slide that he powered with dish soap and creek water - good clean fun quickly ensued. There were children with soap bubble beards, soap bubble armbands, and soap bubble hairdos. Bath-time will never be as easy and fun as it was at the annual church picnic.

After lunch, while the children were slipping and sliding, a group of adults signed up for a tournament involving a card game called "Dutch Blitz". There was a lot of laughter, shouting, followed by more laughter and shouting, and eventually a winner was crowned. Those who participated had a good time, while those who watched had a great time listening to the emotional chaos.

We would like to thank everyone who came out and made this year's church picnic such a blessing. Special thanks goes out to Glenn and Mary Gauker for coordinating the event, Josh Simmons for providing and manning the BBQ grill (and for giving all the kids a bath), Christine Simmons for coordinating the adult games and helping Glenn and Mary setup, and Kim Wert for providing invaluable information as to all that goes into pulling off a church picnic.

LADIES' ICE CREAM SOCIAL

BY: TERESA CARROLL

The Ladies Ministry Team hosted a charming ice cream social Saturday August 16, 2025, at Teresa Carroll's stable. Twenty-one ladies gathered for an evening of fellowship, delicious treats, and fun activities.

The event, held at the stable, featured a cozy fire where attendees enjoyed conversation and camaraderie. Tiki torches, which served the dual purpose of illuminating the gathering and keeping pesky bugs at bay. The stable was decorated with fresh cut flower arrangements displayed in rustic mason jars.

Guests were treated to a delightful menu of sweet treats. A variety of homemade ice cream flavors, including vanilla, chocolate peanut butter, coffee, creamsicle and chocolate brownie chunk were available, along with a generous selection of toppings and freshly baked brownies. A smores station allowed everyone to create their own gooey, roasted treats.

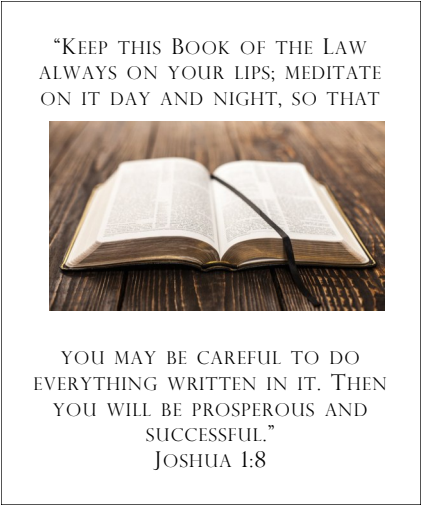

In addition to the sweet treats, the evening's activities included ice-breaker questions, a prayer bowl craft and friendly games of corn hole and can jam, adding a touch of playful competition to the event. The event brought the ladies together for an evening of laughter, fellowship, and sweet memories.

A special Thank you to the members of the Ladies Ministry Team!
