Understanding the Divine Nature of the Church

The Lord's church is not the product of human wisdom, tradition, or invention. It is the eternal plan of God, conceived before the foundation of the world and revealed through Jesus Christ. The apostle Paul wrote, "so that through the church the manifold wisdom of God might now be made known to the rulers and authorities in the heavenly places" (Ephesians 3:10). The church exists to display God's wisdom and to carry out His purpose in Christ.

Jesus Himself declared the divine foundation of the church: "I will build my church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it" (Matthew 16:18). Notice that the church belongs to Christ, it is "my church." He is the builder, the owner, and the head (Colossians 1:18). No human council, creed, or tradition can claim to establish what only Christ has the authority to build.

The prophets foretold this divine plan. Isaiah spoke of a time when "the mountain of the house of the Lord shall be established as the highest of the mountains, and all the nations shall flow to it" (Isaiah 2:2). On the day of Pentecost (Acts 2), this prophecy was fulfilled when the gospel was preached for the first time in its fullness and the church began in Jerusalem. From that moment, God has been adding the saved to His church (Acts 2:47).

Understanding the divine origin of the church reminds us of its sacredness. The church is not a social club, a man-made denomination, or a temporary movement, it is the eternal kingdom of God, purchased with the blood of Christ (Acts 20:28). To belong to the church is to belong to God's family, to be a citizen of His kingdom, and to be part of His eternal purpose. Let us never take lightly what God planned, Christ built, and the Spirit revealed. The church is divine in origin and eternal in destiny. May we honor its head, Jesus Christ, by faithfully living as His people.
