Mentoring Younger Generations Edi Seals

"So even to old age and gray hairs, O God, do not forsake me until I proclaim your might to another generation, Your power to all those to come." Psalm 71:18

One of our most fulfilling opportunities is the privilege to mentor younger generations in our Hispanic ministries here in the USA. These young people live in two cultures simultaneously - the American culture at school and work and the Hispanic culture at home. The advantages are experiencing the cultural richness of both and being bilingual. However, navigating their bicultural experience can cause young people to experience stress, identity confusion, and even social isolation.

How wonderful it is to teach them to find their identity in Christ and to disciple them in learning and applying God's Word to every situation; for the Word is a "lamp unto our feet and a light unto our path."
