OCTOBER 2025

Bring Back Mystery

As a society, I have noticed that at least in my lifetime, we are not very good at embracing Mystery. For me, this has nothing to do with the rise of Atheism, Agnosticism, or any movement that denies the existence of deity. In fact, I think this is an issue for both people of faith and non-faith alike. Mystery is not exclusive to belief. Mystery happens all the time in science, art, music, feelings, etc. Faith-lead people don't have exclusive rights on the concept of Mystery. However, in both areas of non-belief and belief, I have been witnessing a concerning denial of the existence of Mystery in our lives. Mystery has many definitions, but for me, I would define Mystery as a three fold definition. Mystery is the ability to sit with the unknown, to know that we do not know everything, and to hold in tandem, what we know and what we do not yet know. One of the greatest Mysteries that Christians have is the Mystery of the Eucharist. For Lutherans, we believe in the true presence of Christ in the Eucharist, where he is present in, with and under the elements. We don't know how this is exactly possible, but we affirm this reality and live in the Mystery of it all. Same with the theological concept of the Trinity, 3 in 1 God. Scripture reveals this reality to us, but it is ultimately a Mystery. Richard Rohr said in his book, the Divine Dance, "Human strength admires autonomy; God's mystery rests in mutuality." He is speaking of the Trinity and how mutuality is at the core of who God is. We believe that God is the most powerful being/non-being in the universe, and in our biblical understanding, that strength comes in eternal relationship. Mystery brings us together, it forces us to seek beyond ourselves and to be inquisitive towards people we don't know and things we don't know. Mystery pushes us outward, to seek and explore things beyond ourselves so that we may grow in our understanding of God's creation and how God wishes for us to live in creation. Remember, God lives in relationship, and we were made for relationship. Please resist the urge to isolate and fall inward, because we need each other, we cannot do life alone. Reclaim the desire for Mystery, and allow God to expand our hearts and minds to places we never thought possible. And create relationships in unlikely places.

Grace and Peace,

Pastor Chad

Harmonious Stewardship

“For as in one body we have many members, and the members do not all have the same function, so we, though many, are one body in Christ, and individually members one of another” (Romans 12:4-5).

One of the most forgotten concepts in stewardship is the interdependent nature that makes up the Body of Christ and the way that body supports the shared work of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. This is experienced in the local congregation, as well as in broader mission and ministry efforts at the district and Synod levels. Yet in these words, St. Paul reminds the Romans and us that we are indeed members of one another. This is true in our worship. It is also true in our stewardship of the Gospel. Stewards of all shapes and sizes, ages and abilities, affluence and influence are all assembled around Word and Sacrament in the local congregation with no one being more important than the other.

Part of this forgetting lies in what the eyes see and how our human mind operates. Our eyes and our minds are quick to come to the erroneous conclusion that the person who writes the biggest check is the more important steward. Human logic, flawed by sin as it is, could make a claim that the youngest child or the most infirm, aged member of the congregation would certainly be considered something less than important when it comes to the stewardship of the Gospel.

Paul makes it clear in these words that this is not how stewardship of the Gospel is measured in the Body of Christ. Rather, it would be better to view local stewardship like the lost art of harmony in congregational singing. This has been lost not only due to the performative nature of the lead singers of the local praise team, but also because modern hymnals are written to almost force the novice hymn-singer into unison voice. Creative harmonization by talented organists is beautiful to listen to, but does not always support the people in the pews in singing in parts. This is a loss in demonstrating a very practical aspect of whole-body stewardship.

The sound that builds when choral and congregational singers settle into their voice parts is nothing short of heavenly! Yet when altos, tenors and bass sing their individual parts without any concept of how they fit together, the music doesn't sound as powerful. The narrow range of the typical alto line almost sounds monotonous. The tenor line can get painfully high, and the base line can get uncomfortably low. But, when interdependently entwined, along with the melody that is so often carried by the sopranos, the music becomes a tremendously powerful tool in communicating the Gospel.

The same is true of individual stewards. Certainly, stewards with more financial means are in a unique place to “carry the tune” for ministry in a local congregation. But that doesn't rule out the faithful stewardship of the saint-like 94-year-old Hulda, who prayed for her young pastor in German every night while the aches and pains of arthritis and the grief of losing a daughter to cancer kept her awake. This does not rule out Jimmy, the profoundly developmentally disabled confirmand whose basic but dramatically eloquent confession of the faith left an impression on a congregation long after he went to be with Jesus. It doesn't rule out the single parent, the recovering addict, the family coming out of bankruptcy, the elderly widow and everyone in between.

The Lord has entrusted all the baptized with stewardship of the one thing needful: the Gospel of Jesus Christ. No one member of any congregation is more important than another when it comes to this stewardship. The biggest check isn't always the best way to communicate the Gospel. In fact, it is almost always better communicated with the widow's mite, the tenacious stewardship of the talents and so much more.

In the local congregation and beyond, our corporate stewardship of the Gospel needs each other to fill out our great confession. It is not about equal amount. It is about interdependence that only the Holy Spirit can work! Each of us has a role to play, a harmony to sing. The standard for that role is faithfulness. We do not have the same function, but we have the same Jesus! As we sing the parts entrusted to us by the Holy Spirit, the sweet music of the Gospel goes out!

Stewardship Campaign for 2026

This year's Stewardship campaign begins on September 21 and will run through November 23. Our campaign is entitled "Rooted in Faith, Growing in Grace."

Each week we will show a brief video from church members describing stewardship initiatives and experiences.

On October 14 we will be mailing this year's pledge letter and forms. A QR code on the letter can be scanned should you wish to pledge online. If you choose not to pledge online you may return the pledge form to the church office with the envelope provided with the mailing.

Stay tuned in person at church, or online to view the videos and listened to what your fellow parishioners have to say about stewardship at Grace. Help us reach our goal of 100 pledges for 2026.

Happy Holidays - Can You Believe It?

It seems like school has just begun and summer is winding down, but here at the Grace Giving Pantry, we've begun to think about collecting food items for our Thanksgiving and Christmas meal distributions. Thanksgiving is barely 70 days away, and Christmas follows quickly.

We are in need of cans of green beans, corn, peas, sweet potatoes, cranberry sauce, pineapple, and peaches. In addition to canned items, we are collecting packages/boxes of mashed potatoes or scalloped potatoes. Finally, let's talk turkey! We expect to distribute 40-45 turnkeys or hams to our families x2 holidays! We've found that Target has the best price on turkeys and hams and are happy to accept a gift card, check, or a turkey/ham!

We thank all of you for all the help and support you give to our ministry every year. Without you, our endeavors would be less successful.

Blessings,
Grace Giving Pantry

Members of Grace,

August looked like a heavier month on expenses, but that was mostly because of timing - things like payroll and a couple of big seasonal bills all happened to land at once. That's normal in church accounting, and it doesn't point to any deeper issue. Day-to-day, we're right on track, and your continued generosity has kept us in a healthy spot.

As we move forward into fall, we are grateful for the ways your gifts make ministry happen. From worship on Sundays to caring for our property, to keeping outreach and community programs going strong. Every bit of support matters, and together we keep Grace thriving.

Grace's Book Club

Grace Book Club
October 6, 2025 at 7pm via Zoom

Join us as we discuss our next book, Sandwich by Catherine Newman. For the past two decades, Rocky has looked forward to her family's yearly escape to Cape Cod. Their humble beach-town rental has been the site of sweet memories, sunny days, great meals, and messes of all kinds: emotional, marital, and—thanks to the cottage's ancient plumbing—septic too.

This year's vacation, with Rocky sandwiched between her half-grown kids and fully aging parents, promises to be just as delightful as summers past—except, perhaps, for Rocky's hormonal bouts of rage and melancholy. (Hello, menopause!) Her body is changing—her life is, too. And then a chain of events sends Rocky into the past, reliving both the tenderness and sorrow of a handful of long-ago summers.

It's one precious week: everything is in balance; everything is in flux. And when Rocky comes face to face with her family's history and future, she is forced to accept that she can no longer hide her secrets from the people she loves.

"Sandwich is joy in book form. I laughed continuously, except for the parts that made me cry. Catherine Newman does a miraculous job reminding us of all the wonder there is to be found in life."—Ann Patchett, New York Times bestselling author of Tom Lake

Braver Angels Workshop

Saturday, October 11 | 9:30 - 2:00pm | Social Hall

On 11th October, 2025, representatives from the Braver Angel's Lower Susquehanna Alliance will host a Common Ground Workshop on Immigration at Grace Lutheran Church. This workshop is different from other workshops and is part of a national initiative to find common ground on immigration. The Braver Angels Common Ground Workshop brings together equal numbers of Conservatives and Liberals – Reds and Blues (4-8 of each) – for a deep dive into a problem, such as addressing climate change, electoral reform or abortion. Participants will engage in four exercises designed to identify personal connections to the issue, policy stances, discovering common ground, and finding unanimous Points of Agreement.

By the end of the workshop, participants have come up with jointly and unanimously held Points of Agreements on values, concerns and policies. It can lead to joint Red-Blue actions such as op-eds, joint speaking and meetings with legislators. Results will be shared with members of our US Congress.

There are two ways to join a Common Ground Workshop:

- Participant: A participant will engage in small and large group discussions with individuals of both the same and different political persuasions. Participants must identify as “red” (Republican or leaning conservative) or “blue” (Democrat or leaning liberal). We will strive for an equal balance of red and blue participants: 4 to 8 people on each side.
- Observer/Alternate: An observer/alternate will not participate in the discussions directly but will have the opportunity to watch and listen. Observers/Alternates should be ready to step in and participate as their “color” in the event of participant cancellations.

We need 8-12 participants representing two different views of immigration. When you register at <https://braverangels.org/event/common-ground-workshop-immigration-4/>, you will be asked whether you have a more conservative or liberal view on immigration so that Braver Angels can ensure equal representation of both sides. Participation is limited and a representative from Braver Angels will contact you if you are chosen as a participant or observer. You will receive a pre-read on the topic prior to the workshop. By the event, participants will jointly identify unanimously held “Points of Agreements.” Braver Angels has had a very positive response to the Common Ground workshops and past participants have indicated the time flies. Anyone interested in developing a deeper understanding of, and connection with, people whose beliefs differ from their own are welcome to attend.

Questions? Rick Keen will be in the library after church to answer your questions.
