Everything Will Be Alright

Romans 8:26-30

KEY POINT

As we look at our lives—the good, the bad, and the ugly (the pressures surrounding us, trials, hurts, disappointments, health issues, financial issues, success, and personal progress)—God promises every true believer that everything will be alright.

| I.   | The  | e Holy Spirit  | our weakne        | ss,             | (26–27).               |              |  |
|------|--|--|-------------------|-----------------|------------------------|--------------|--|
|      | A. The Spirit is never by our weakness. Instead, He is weakness.  B. The Spirit is there for us, even when we are at our |  |                   |                 |                        | to us in our |  |
|      |  |  |                   |                 |                        | ·            |  |
|      | C.   | The Spirit   | our needs         | to              | the Father.            |              |  |
|      |  |  |                   |                 |                        |              |  |
| II.  | The Father is actively in our lives (28).  |  |                   |                 |                        |              |  |
|      | A.   | We should be _   | of God's          | in our li       | ves.                   |              |  |
|      | В.   | 3. God is active in our lives. He never quits or rests.                    |                   |                 |                        |              |  |
|      | C.   | Not everything that happens to believers is                                |                   |                 |                        |              |  |
| III. | The  | e Father has   | actively interven | ed and          | will (29–30).          |              |  |
|      | A.   | A. From God's perspective, every event of salvation is already a, with all |                   |                 |                        |              |  |
|      | В.   | salvation.   | _ can God's   | mind from activ | ely intervening in eve | ry event of  |  |