Passing the Peace

Prelude Instrumental

Greeting / Call to Worship

Liturgist: Lord God, you, the Holy Spirit, inspired the Prophets to imagine.
Congregation: In Isaiah 11, the prophet Isaiah imagines a world where wolves lie with sheep and leopards lie with goats.
Liturgist: In Jeremiah 7, the prophet Jeremiah imagines a type of worship that inspires people to take their religion outside the walls of a temple or church, knowing that true religion is to act justly, love mercy, and walk humbly with God.
Congregation: In Ezekiel 40-48, the prophet Ezekiel imagines a renewed temple with a life-giving river, symbolizing the Kingdom of God on earth.
Liturgist: In Revelation 21-22, the prophet John imagines a new earth and new heaven, painting a picture of what it will be like when Jesus returns and makes everything right.
Congregation: Lord God, give us this prophetic imagination.
Liturgist: Help us imagine a world without racism, sexism, hatred, fear, lust, greed, scapegoating, or any other way to dehumanize our neighbors.
Congregation: Help us to imagine a world where people love each other the way Jesus loves us.
Liturgist: With your grace, may the realization of this imagination begin with me.
Congregation: In Jesus name, Amen.

Opening Prayer* (prayerist.com/prayer/worldcommunionsunday)
O Redeemer God, as we gather in worship on this World Communion Sunday, we ask that you send your Holy Spirit to fall afresh on all the churches – giving us the knowledge of your will. May your Spirit awaken new hope in us. Grant us the vision to see the coming of your kingdom. Help us to celebrate the glimpses of grace that you have given to each of us. Knit our hearts together in worship and communion so that we know we do not struggle alone in working for your peace and justice. We pray this in the name of your Son, Jesus Christ. Amen.

Then, with God’s grace, unconditionally and sacrificially love people to turn your imaginary world into reality. May God’s peace permeate your heart. Amen.
