September 2025

Dear Partners in the Ministry,

Around here, September marks the beginning of the hot season. From now until sometime in December, the weather will continue to grow hotter and dustier until the rains finally arrive. Week to week, we stay consistently busy with discipleship meetings, witnessing opportunities, and learning how to navigate both government systems and the city we live in.

This month, much of my time was spent working through the process of getting my Zambian driver's license and registering our vehicle in our name. Between five different offices, collectively it took around sixteen hours to get all the proper documents in order! Although the process required quite a bit of patience, I'm thankful for the kind people the Lord allowed me to meet throughout the process. At one of the offices, the gatekeeper happened to be wearing a Florida Gators T-shirt, which sparked a conversation, and praise the Lord, we saw him in church this past Sunday!

A couple of highlights from this month included our city church's joint service with our village church. We took a busload of our members out to the village and had a combined service followed by dinner on the grounds. It was a great time of fellowship and encouragement, reminding us that we are not alone in the Christian battlefield.

Another blessing was getting to be part of our team's Bible School. Every quarter, our team hosts a week-long block class where we bring together pastors from both the city and surrounding villages to teach and expound on various Bible topics. This month's study was a practical overview of the book of James. It was exciting to hear the thoughtful questions and discussions that followed, and we pray these men will take what they have learned and apply it in their homes and churches.

In my last letter, I mentioned that we were still searching for a house. Praise the Lord, we have now signed a contract and, Lord willing, will be moving in within the next couple of weeks. This is an essential need for our family as we continue to settle into life and ministry here in Zambia. We are always grateful for those who faithfully pray for and support our family.

Sincerely,

Isaiah, Alicen, Faith, Isabella, and Willow Carr
