From the Pastor's Desk

At the time of writing this article, the final phase of our entryway project will be commencing soon. This project has been amazing to watch. It has also caused me to think (dangerous, I know). I challenged our leadership team a few weeks ago, how do we greet people? An updated entryway means nothing if those who walk through the doors do not immediately feel the Love and Acceptance of Jesus Christ. Those of us who attend regularly (don't get me started on how that is defined) look forward to coming in on Sunday mornings. We meet and greet others and look to find our spot in the Sanctuary when the service begins. What about those new to the church? I know that we have several persons who watch for and greet our visitors. But I wonder how "welcoming" we are. Are we intentional in our focus looking for and greeting others. As we begin to grow, we must be well-versed and well-practiced in our greeting and welcoming.

Be blessed and be a blessing.

Pastor Kal
