

HOPE!

I pray that you will have greater understanding in your heart.
Then you will know THE HOPE that God has chosen to give us.
Ephesians 1:18

Hope is powerful thing. Something that seems to be waning in people and lacking in society. Hope is what lets us what through the struggles of life. It comes from understanding whose we are—our Identity. We belong to God and He is big and powerful. As God has reminded me recently, if we say that God is in control, we must live like He is in control. We must believe in the unalterable truth that God is in charge and is powerful, that we are His children and then walk by faith and not by sight.

That sense of Identity which Christ gives to our children is powerful at a time when satan is doing everything he can to destroy any sense of identity within them. And this knowledge comes as a result of understanding.

To gain understanding, we must have teaching. This is where Kids World comes along side you, as a parent, to help support the faith that you are living out at home with teaching from God's Word.

This next two months the younger children are learning about the Bible and the older students are learning about prayer. Be sure to ask them about what they are learning and model the importance of the Bible and Prayer at home. Let them see you pray and read God's Word.

Try this at HOME

I understand that there may be less interruption for a meaningful quiet time with God before the children awake or after they go to bed. So do that. However, try letting your children "catch" you reading and praying while they are awake as well. Perhaps when they come home from school you are sitting reading or in prayer. Maybe you pull out the Bible to do "homework with God" at the table while they are doing their homework from school. It doesn't need to be a big demonstration or elaborate Bible Study with them. Just let them see God active within your life on a casual and everyday basis.
