The Book of Concord: What is it? Part 7

The Luther's Small Catechism

It might surprise you to learn that Luther's Small Catechism is part of the Confessions of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in the Book of Concord. But in fact, the Small Catechism is a very important part of the whole. If you remember anything about your confirmation, you might possibly remember the question posed to you: "Do you confess the doctrine of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, drawn from the Scriptures, as you have learned to know it from the Small Catechism, to be faithful and true?" To which you would have answered, "I do." So, it is that the Small Catechism is the Christian faith expressed in summary for the purpose of instructing lay people young and old. This article is a summary of how the Small Catechism came to be.

In the year 1528 (2 years before the presentation of the Augsburg Confession), Martin Luther and some of his fellow pastors and theologians paid visits to many of the parishes in Saxony out of concern for the spiritual state of churches throughout the region. What they discovered was far worse than they expected. Luther writes in what would become the preface to his Small Catechism, "Mercy! Dear God, what great misery I beheld! The common person, especially in the villages, has no knowledge whatever of Christian doctrine. And unfortunately, many pastors are completely unable and unqualified to teach... Yet, everyone says they are Christians, have been baptized, and receive the holy Sacraments, even though they cannot even recite the Lord's Prayer or the Creed or the Ten Commandments. They live like dumb brutes and irrational hogs... O bishops! What answer will you ever give to Christ for having so shamefully neglected the people and never for a moment fulfilled your office [James 3:1]?"

The reduction of Christianity to a formulaic system of earning indulgences, and trying to minimize one's time in purgatory, didn't merely cause many consciences to be troubled; it also forsook the emphasis on teaching the content of the Christian faith from the Scriptures such that both clergy and laity were left clueless concerning even the most basic tenets of the faith. The people of God in Luther's day had essentially been robbed of the true guidance of God's law (replaced by their man-made laws) and the comfort of His Gospel (which was all but lost at the time) because they hadn't even been taught what Scripture actually taught. Catechetical instruction was already the primary emphasis in the work being done toward reforming the Church. Even in the earliest days of the Reformation and before, Luther was already preaching and publishing sermons on the Ten Commandments, the Lord's Prayer and the Apostles Creed.

The idea of a Catechism was not a new one in the 1500's. Many similar catechisms had been written and used in various parts of the Church in prior centuries. And their goal was similar to Luther's: to get the basic contents of the Christian faith into the ears and before the eyes of God's people, with the prayer that the Holy Spirit would work it into their hearts.

Luther's Large Catechism (the topic for next month) was a result of his summarizing and reducing the catechetical sermons he had preached over the years on the Ten Commandments, the Creed, the Lord's Prayer, and the Sacraments. The most prominent sermons used for this were those he had preached in 1528 in the wake of his horrifying discovery of how ignorant we're people concerning the Christian faith. The Small Catechism followed soon after and, as you all know, was even further summarized and simplified so that it was easily memorized. Memorizing the basic tenets of the Christian faith allows the Christian to easily reflect upon them in any need, and easily draw the admonishment, guidance, or comfort of the Scriptures as needed in any situation.

In addition to being a booklet, The Small Catechism was also originally published in poster form; hanging in the home (and even in churches) to make studying each part easy and convenient.

The word “catechism” comes from the Greek word, katecho (katecho), from which we also get the word “echo.” The Small Catechism is written to be echoed. There is an old saying: “Repetition is the mother of all learning.” Luther says, “the Holy Spirit is present in such reading, repetition, and meditation. He bestows ever new and more light and devoutness.” And so the catechism is to be read, repeated, meditated upon, and each of these over and over. Luther says that this is how we learn the faith; as “children . . . begin to learn their alphabet.”

While over the past several decades catechesis (or “confirmation” study) has been associated with children being taught at church by the pastor, The Small Catechism was written with the expectation that it would be taught in the home. Each section begins, “As the Head of the Family Should Teach It in the Simplest Way to His Household . . .” So it is that parents should even today be encouraged to make their homes the primary place of catechesis, with the pastor supporting this through instruction in the church. Families should be encouraged to keep their catechisms near the dining room table, at the bedside, or wherever family devotions might most naturally take place. Getting the poster versions of each of the chief parts might even be in order.

Whatever works best for helping the whole family to read and take to heart these basic teachings of the Christian faith drawn from the Holy Scriptures. Luther says this is the most important reason to read and study the Catechism, because it grants the Holy Spirit, who brings us to faith in Christ and drives away the devil. Indeed, “for this reason alone you ought gladly to read, speak, think, and use these things, even if you had no other profit and fruit from them than driving away the devil and evil thoughts by doing so. For he cannot hear or endure God’s Word... Yes indeed, it is the power of God that gives the devil burning pain and strengthens, comforts, and helps us beyond measure.”

Read, repeat, and meditate. Learn it by rote, so as to learn it by heart. Then you can take it with you through all of the joys and sorrows of life and all the way to your deathbed and beyond; fully admonished, guided, and comforted by the most fundamental teachings of Christ and His Word.

In Christ,
Pastor Powell

FALL DINNER QUILT AUCTION

Give a beautiful queen size Christian Cross Quilt to your kids this year for Christmas to be auctioned off at the Trinity Fall Dinner. The quilt will be displayed in the narthex a few weeks prior to the dinner for you to see. The ladies have pieced and hand quilted this for hours too many to count in service to our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

FALL DINNER LIVE AUCTION ITEMS:

Now is a great time to start on your personal donation of your talent and treasure for the dinner. This year, a live auction will be held. If you are famous for your hobby, such as baking, creating Christmas items, cookies, woodworking, needlework, gardening, making wreaths, or crafting jellies, quilts, or other items, we would love to feature it in the auction. The only items we discourage are “rummage or garage sale items.

LADIES EVENING GUILD

The Ladies Evening Guild met in the Church Library on Monday, October 6, 2025. Fourteen members were present. Our next meeting will be held on Monday, November 3, 2025 in the Fellowship Hall at 6:30pm. Our anniversary month will be observed and will have a carry in dish to share. All guests are invited to come. Both the Taco Salad Sundae Sunday held on September 7, and our rummage sale held Saturday, October 3, were a success. We would like to thank everyone who participated in these events. Proceeds from each are earmarked for the repair of the cafeteria's double doors. During the meeting, we held the election of the office of Vice President and Secretary. A motion was made and seconded to retain Lisa Young as Vice Pres and Pam Rustemeyer as Secretary. Thank you ladies! You both do a wonderful job for the Guild. In December, we will again adopt 2 families for Christmas. The meeting will be held Monday, December 1, at 6:30pm in the Fellowship Hall. Our Christmas meal will be prepared by Sandy Siebeneck, Leslie Franklin, and Janelle Schulte. Installation of Officers will take place at the time. The meeting adjourned with The Lord's Prayer.

HAPPY DRIFTERS

Our annual Thanksgiving celebration will be Thursday, November 13, at 12:00 in the Fellowship Hall. After our meal, guest speakers will be Dan and Gerry Delong. Each year they have a family tradition of going to the Navajo Indian Reservation in Monument Valley, Arizona. They pick up unsold clothes from Calvary Gifts to distribute to the residents living there. If you are donating clothes to Calvary and it isn't sold you may be helping people in Arizona. Thanks to God we are able to share with others not only Thanksgiving month, but all year long. If you are planning to attend, please sign the sheet on bulletin board in the hall.

PARISH ED BOARD

All are welcome to Sunday School on Sunday morning. We start all together in the Fellowship Hall and then go to the various rooms.
