

Little Explorers

November

Happy November! My goodness I cannot believe we are already here; the holidays are always my favorite time of year in the classroom! Some reminders as we get further into the colder parts of the year, Jackets! Please keep in mind our morning playground time is getting pretty chilly; we want to make sure each explorer can still enjoy their time on the playground as it gets colder. We will also be holding a family chapel the week of Thanksgiving, this is always such a special experience for our explorers to get to share the fun with loved ones!
