Communication Column

Since our first Sunday, which was our first week at Tusculum University, we have been grateful to the church for its support of the university and our students. That very first Sunday, our arrival was mentioned and prayers were offered up before anyone knew I was the new president. Through the pandemic, Tusculum Baptist continued to worship and minister, setting an example of strength and flexibility. Nothing pleases me more than to see Tusculum students give their lives to Christ, be baptized, worship, and be discipled. SPOT is significant in reaching students at a critical time in their lives. College is a critical time for discovery and evaluation. While many college students drift or even reject their faith, TBC’s commitment to the Great Commission is bearing fruit. Tusculum University students are growing in their faith, partially because of TBC. When David and Betty Smith and now Jon and Leann Reed attend Tusculum events and root on Pioneers at various games, it does not go unnoticed. When members of Tusculum Baptist greet our students at Pioneer WOW as they first arrive on campus, it makes an impression on our students and their families. Adopting the women’s volleyball team, reaches students that might not have been reached otherwise. They love hearing so many from the church cheering them on. Students appreciate being invited to church, but they are impressed when the church comes to campus. TBC is going the extra mile in its ministry, and as a result, Christ is being glorified.

Going the extra mile, is on full display over Thanksgiving. I am grateful the church has and will again partner with Taylor Made Grooming Lounge. Many of our international students have never experienced Thanksgiving and don’t know what it is. What a great way to share the meaning of Thanksgiving and Christian hospitality. Many of our students cannot afford to go home or need to remain on campus because they play sports that compete over the holiday. Not only do the students appreciate a great meal and fellowship, but they recognize the sacrifice of time and effort to provide this meal for them. Thank you for your faithful ministry to our community and students.

November is a month of Thanksgiving. We truly have a lot to be thankful for, but we should especially rejoice in the fact that God lavishes His love on us and that because of that we can be called "Children of God." 1 John 3:1
