

MISSION CREEK

Alliance Church

At the table with our Neighbours

1. Where in your own story do you identify with Zacchaeus—feeling “lost,” unseen, or pushed to the margins?

How does Jesus’ way of seeing and seeking people speak to you personally?

2. Jesus noticed Zacchaeus before he ever spoke to him.

Who in your life right now might need to be noticed—someone God may already be putting in front of you?

3. The sermon emphasized that Jesus used the table as His mission field.

What holds you back from opening your table—fear, busyness, insecurity, habits, or something else?

What step could help you push past that barrier?

4. Think about the idea of embodying the gospel through hospitality.

When has someone’s hospitality made you feel loved, welcomed, or seen?

How might God want to use you in a similar way?

5. According to Jesus’ teaching, our neighbour is “the person right in front of us who has a need.”

Who is that person in your life right now?

What need do they carry—loneliness, grief, financial strain, spiritual curiosity?

6. The sermon suggests that evangelism today flows more naturally through shared meals than formal events.

How does this reshape your understanding of sharing faith?

What practical rhythms could you intentionally build into your week?

7. Pastor Keith said, “Your dinner table is our church’s evangelism strategy.”

What specific, realistic invitation could you make this week—one person, one family, one neighbour?

What day/time/setting would make this actually happen?
