Joy to The World

As the calendar has turned to December, lights begin to shine, carols fill the air, and much of the world pauses to reflect on the birth of Jesus. While we in the church do not celebrate Christmas as a religious holiday, we do recognize something powerful about this time of year, hearts everywhere are softened to think about Jesus. People who rarely speak His name suddenly sing about Him. Entire cities echo with words like Savior, peace, Emmanuel, and King of kings. What a blessing it is when the world, even for a moment, turns its attention toward the One who came to save.

Though Scripture gives no command to set aside a single day to honor Christ's birth, it does teach us to remember Jesus always (Luke 22:19; 1 Cor. 11:26). His coming into the world was the beginning of the greatest story ever told. One that leads to the cross, the empty tomb, and the hope of eternal life. He did not enter as a warrior or a ruler of men but as a child, humble and lowly, born into this world so that He might rescue it. The Son became flesh (John 1:14) so that sinners might become children of God. That is worth celebrating, not just in December, but every day we live and breathe.

This season opens doors for conversation and evangelism like few others. When neighbors, co-workers, or friends speak of Jesus, we can gently guide those thoughts toward the fullness of His purpose:

He came not just to be born, but to die for our sins. He came not just to enter the world, but to redeem it.

He came not just to give joy for a season, but for eternity.

Let's use the season to shine His light, by reflecting His love, speaking His name boldly, and showing His character through service and kindness. True joy is not found in festivities, gifts, or tradition. True joy is found in knowing Christ, walking with Him, and sharing His gospel. If the world is singing Joy to the World, let us echo that song with our lives. Lives that reflect joy rooted in salvation, anchored in hope, and lived out daily in faith and obedience.

May we help others see Jesus not just as a baby in a manger, but as Lord, Savior, and King. Not just a seasonal memory, but an eternal joy. May His light shine through us this season and always. Joy to the world, our Savior has come!
