January 14, 2026

Message from Pastor Jeff

Thank you to Pastor JD for bringing the message last week on connection. I don't want to be one of those goldfish bowl goldfish! If you are looking to get more connected, check out the "connect" tab on the church website. If you don't know where to start, why not start with the New Connections class that Staci Moore is leading? You can find that class under "community groups" after you click on the connect tab.

One of the ways in which I have seen God build real connections within the body of Christ is through Discipleship Bands (Plus, it's fun to tell people I'm in a band). You can learn more about Discipleship Bands here. One of the things I love about bands is that it is not a church program or driven by church staff. It's you finding a couple of other people who love Jesus and want to pursue the fullness of life in Christ together. If you are interested, Pastor JD or I would love to tell you more about it.

Whether you are 25 or 95, it is good to have a plan in place in the case of your passing from this earth. The bible says we gain wisdom, not anxiety and fear, by considering the number of our days. I've got a great workshop planned for Sunday, January 25, that will be helpful for everyone. It's called Finishing Strong. Come join me!

I look forward to worshiping with you this weekend!

Jeff

True faith produces fruit. A faith without action and without life change is ultimately a dead faith. Finishing Strong: Making Final Plans

Sunday, January 25 2-3:30pm, Activity Center

While most people avoid thinking about their death and funeral plans, the bible actually says we gain wisdom by considering the number of our days. I (Pastor Jeff) work with lots of families at the moment of death, and there are some clear things that make death and dying a powerful witness to God's love and which bless your family in that moment. Join me as we think through how you can prepare to love your family well in your death. We will look at practical things that everyone needs to have in place for when they die--from a living will to songs for the funeral service.

NATIONAL HUMAN TRAFFICKING PREVENTION MONTH

Stronger connections.
Stronger futures.

Restoring Dignity: A Call to Action for National Human Trafficking Awareness Month

This January, as our nation observes National Human Trafficking Prevention Month, we are called as a community of faith to look "beneath the surface" of a tragedy that often remains hidden in plain sight. Human trafficking is a crime against humanity and, for many in our community, an affront to the Gospel that denies the inherent value of every life created in the image of God.

Sex Trafficking 101: An Introduction

Human Trafficking is the fastest growing crime worldwide. Why? Simply put, drugs can be sold only once, but a human being can be sold multiple times a day. Unlike drug trafficking where the product has to be restocked, traffickers only have to keep victims alive to gain profit from them no matter their condition.

Since 2019, God has called Eight Days of Hope to stand in the gap for those who have been victims of sex trafficking. One of the ways we can do that is by helping you understand exactly what trafficking is.

So, what is sex trafficking?

Sex trafficking: a form of modern-day slavery in which individuals perform a commercial sex act that is induced by force, fraud, or coercion.

Through the Lens of a Victim

1. Force: When a victim is physically restrained, kicked, sexually assaulted, beaten, and/or strangled if they did not perform a commercial sex act.
2. Fraud: When a victim is deceived by false promises of employment, protection, love, marriage, or a better life and then forced to perform a commercial sex act.
3. Coercion: When a victim is threatened with serious harm, confinement, and/or rape if they do not perform a commercial sex act.

*The term "commercial sex act" means any sex act on account of which anything of value (money, rent, food, etc.) is given to or received by any person.

Supply and Demand

Sex trafficking is all about supply and demand, and involves a trafficker, a victim and a buyer. As long as there are people wanting to buy sex and pornography, there will be people looking to groom the next victim.

The average age of a victim in trafficking is 15 years old. (2021 Federal Human Trafficking Report)

The average “John,” or buyer, is a 40-year-old, married father of two who makes an average annual income of $75,000–$80,000. (Familial Trafficking in the US, SAFE)

How do we get to the point where a 15-year-old can be sold for sex?

The Trafficking Cycle

Traffickers literally play the “long game” by using proven methods of manipulation that can be described as a trafficking cycle.

Believe it or not, there are books that teach you how to become a trafficker. Right now, traffickers are actively looking for vulnerabilities and future victims to pull into the trafficking cycle.

1. Recruitment: traffickers identify men, women, or children who are vulnerable. They are looking for individuals that they can build an emotional connection with, and then manipulate that connection to repeatedly abuse the victim. Common vulnerabilities: children in foster care, homes with substance abuse or financial hardship, single mothers, vulnerable adults.

2. Grooming: the process of establishing a relationship and emotional bond with a target victim to manipulate, exploit, or abuse them. These relationships may have the disguise of lover, provider, or protector.

3. Exploitation: a foundation of trust has been built by the trafficker, abuse begins, and the victim is sold for sex to benefit the trafficker.

The heartbreak reality?

Somebody's son or daughter is being sold over and over and over again...

A trafficking victim can be sold 5-6 times a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year. That equals more than 12,000 sex acts a year.

The average quota per day is $2,000, making the trafficker $730,000 a year from just one victim.

Many never escape the cycle, but for those who do, hope and healing can be found through safe houses around the country. Eight Days of Hope has partnered with 13 organizations fighting for survivors to have a redeemed life each and every day.

We understand that this information is heartbreaking, but it's crucial for us to learn about what is happening to so many right this second. We must, as the body of Christ, keep our eyes wide open.

New Year Message from Landon King

Hello, Grace Family!

If we haven't had the chance to meet yet, I'm Landon King, a member of the Mental Health committee. Over the past few weeks, I've been taking the time to reflect on what I want for the new year. It is difficult to settle on one word or phrase that I feel pushed on my heart, but over and over again, I find myself coming back to the word "progress."

Jeff has spoken time and time again about the mindset of redirecting our trajectory in life towards God. He never asks us to meet a certain goal or tackle a specific aspect of our lives. God only asks that we come as we are. We turn ourselves towards Him even when we do not feel worthy. I see myself in this, thinking if I could ever be worthy of such love or understanding. The truth is, none of us are. However, when I look back on my life, the thing that sticks out the most is progress. At times, it is slower than I would appreciate, but present is the progress I've made.

I live by this word currently to remind myself that I'm pushing to be better mentally and physically. How can we do this spiritually? For me, it means setting aside my morning to start with God. It looks like me praying to God after I've completed a specific task versus when I just feel like it. It's building in those routines to grow my relationship with Him.

Doing this alone is hard, but it's why I have a Discipleship Band to keep me accountable for my actions. We celebrate the progress each of us have made while continuing to push each other's trajectory towards God. It is hard to build those routines, but having others to keep me going makes it much easier. I encourage each of you to reflect on your life. What progress have you made? Where are you trying to be? Who is going to help you along your journey?

With Love,

Landon
