

UNDERGROUND CHURCH

A Sending House for Worship, Creativity, and Mission

Mission

Underground Church exists to form and send a new generation of Christ-centered creatives and missionaries—raised through worship, trained with excellence, and released into the world.

Vision

Underground Church is not built to gather people permanently—it is built to send them.

Rooted in worship and driven by mission, Underground Church functions as a creative sending house: a place where young adults encounter God deeply, are disciplined intentionally, and are trained to carry the Gospel into culture, nations, and creative industries.

Inspired by Isaiah 6—“Here am I, send me”—this community exists for those who are hungry not just for experience, but for assignment.

What Makes This Different

Underground Church operates as a self-sustaining ministry ecosystem, not a traditional church model.

We integrate: - Worship as spiritual formation - Creativity as discipleship - Mission as the outcome

Our gatherings fuel transformation. Our training multiplies leaders. Our creative work funds mission.

This is a house for senders—and those being sent.

What We Do

Worship & Prayer Gatherings

Modern worship nights, soaking prayer, and electronic worship events that draw young adults into reverence, repentance, and calling.

Creative Discipleship & Training

A DJ, producer, and electronic worship training pathway—forming Christ-centered artists with both spiritual depth and professional excellence.

Mission-Funded Creativity

Through music releases, events, and creative production, we generate sustainable funding for mission initiatives.

Redemptive Economic Impact

We partner with rescued and vulnerable individuals globally—paying them to record Scripture, psalms, and worship vocals in their native languages—providing dignified creative work and freedom from exploitative industries.

The result: worship fuels mission, mission fuels creativity, and creativity sustains the work.

Underground Church sits at the intersection—serving students, creatives, and missionaries who are ready to be sent into cities, industries, and nations.

This is not a replacement for the local church. It is a sending engine that strengthens the broader Body.
