What I'm Learning in Math at Preschool

Counting Fun!

I love counting! We count everything—our snacks, the blocks we build with, and even the number of friends in our circle. Sometimes, we use our fingers, and sometimes we sing counting songs. It's like a game!

Shapes Everywhere!

Every day is an adventure with shapes! I get to learn about circles, squares, and triangles. We even go on shape hunts around the classroom! Finding shapes in art and using them in our drawings makes me super happy.

Big and Small

I'm learning how to compare things—what's big, what's small, and what's in between. We measure things with our hands and see which toy is taller. It's fun to see how different things can be!

Patterns Make Me Smile!

Patterns are like puzzles! I love making patterns with colors and shapes. We use snacks, beads, and art supplies to create our own cool patterns. I can make a red-blue-red-blue pattern; it feels like magic!

Playing with Numbers

We play games with numbers, and I like it when we use dice and cards. It helps me remember my numbers better! Sometimes we even race against the clock to see how many we can get right.

Thinking Like a Little Mathematician

When I ask questions and try to solve problems during games, I feel like a real mathematician. I learn how to think through things, like how many friends can fit at the table or how many blocks I need to build a tower.

Learning math in preschool is a lot like playing! It helps me explore the world around me, and I can't wait to learn even more!

The Month Ahead:

February Focus: Groundhogs, valentines, and dental health. We will continue working on prewriting this month as well as letter and number recognition, letter sounds, more and less, and some science fun with shadows.

PJ and Pancakes fun

PJ and Pancake Day was a hit. We played in the dark, ate a ton of pancakes and syrup, and finished with bedtime stories. Cozy chaos and sweet memories.

School Closure

School will be closed on February 11 & 12 for an all Promise staff conference in Arizona. Due to this closure, there will be class on Monday February 16th.

What's Happening:

Valentines Day Celebration--February 16 and 17

We will turn our classroom sweet and bright as we cut out homemade valentines, decorate heart-shaped cookies, and played heart-themed games. Students can share stories about what they love about their friends, and tuck valentines into colorful envelopes. We'll have a read-aloud about kindness, and end our with warm hot chocolate and grateful smiles.
