REFLECTING ON GOD'S WORD

The three Synoptic Gospels, Matthew, Mark, and Luke, follow a similar pattern at the beginning of their Gospels. Following His baptism, Jesus is led into the wilderness to be tested. Then, having been tested, Jesus begins His public ministry. Matthew and Luke offer similar, nearly identical accounts, which for Matthew's community would have resonated deeply with its Jewish Christian roots.

Today's Gospel reading can be broken into two sections. The frame (the first two sentences and the last sentence of the reading) outlines the basic story and surrounds the three dialogues between the tempter and Jesus. Each section is significant and each reveals Jesus' true identity as the Son of God who, unlike His nation (Israel), passes the test of obedience.

The frame creates a kind of typology similar to that seen in today's second reading. Israel was brought out to the wilderness by God, where Israel wandered for forty years and was tested, a test that it usually failed. In contrast, the newly baptized Jesus is led into the wilderness by the Spirit to be tested for forty days and nights. Not only does this testing recall Israel's testing, against which Israel famously rebelled at Meribah and Massah (Exodus 17:1-7), but also the forty-day fasts of Moses and Elijah. Where Israel failed, Jesus passes, showing Himself as the Son of God.

Equally dramatic are the dialogues between Jesus and the tempter. In the New Testament, the Devil is synonymous with Satan, whose very name means "tester" and "tempter". And although Satan is powerful, he is subordinate to God. Each dialogue follows the same pattern: a test is proposed by the devil and Jesus responds with a quotation from Deuteronomy 6-8. The dialogues are similar to the debates between great teachers who used quotations from sacred writings to settle an argument. In His choice of quotations, Jesus demonstrates His complete and total obedience to God's commands, and His faithful trust in God's providence. In this way, Jesus does not reject His Jewish heritage, but rather He demonstrates what true covenant obedience and trust look like.

For Christians at the beginning of the Lenten season, it is Jesus' obedience to God's will that shines forth in today's readings. Furthermore, sin is exposed as anything that undermines such obedience. And implied in all of it is a turn and return to the Lord.

THEMES: 1ST SUNDAY OF LENT, YEAR A

This week's themes invites reflection on human weakness and God's saving grace. It shows the struggle with temptation and the hope of new life through Jesus.

- ♦ Temptation and Choice: Temptation is a test of loyalty to God. In Eden, Adam and Eve failed, but Jesus stood firm in the desert.
- ♦ Obedience vs. Disobedience: Adam's disobedience brought sin, while Jesus' obedience brings life. This contrast shows the impact of our choices.
- ♦ Sin and its Consequences: Sin brings shame and separation from God, as seen with Adam and Eve. But through Jesus, there is hope for reconciliation.
- ♦ Grace and Redemption: Through Jesus' sacrifice, grace overcomes sin. This offers a path to righteousness for all who believe.
- ♦ Scripture as Strength: Jesus used Scripture to resist temptation. This shows the power of God's Word in facing challenges.
- ♦ Victory Over Evil: Jesus defeated the devil's temptations. This victory gives confidence that evil can be overcome.

The 1st Sunday of Lent, Year A, highlights the human struggle with sin and the hope found in Jesus. It encourages trust in God's mercy and strength to resist temptation.
