She's With Me

In Honor of Sarah Mayes

By Michael Orr

She's with me, my Savior said,
As He sat upon her bed.
She ran her race and now she's done,
The fight was fought, the battle won.

Oh no! I said, with pleading cry,
It isn't time to say goodbye!
We need her still, don't close the door,
Just let her stay a little more.

She's with me, He said with grace,
I know that look upon your face.
In fact, I see the pain you wear,
Because she's here, no longer there.

But I was with her when she stayed,
To soothe a heart where wounds were laid,
A steady hand, a faithful friend,
She served and loved until the end.

She's with me, He then insisted,
From long ago when she enlisted,
Saved by Grace in second birth,
Heaven bound though still on Earth.

And though you may not know the reason,
There is a seed for every season.
Though gone from view her life remains,
Removed from mortal aches and pains.

She's with me, He said again,
And I responded softly then,
I know Your words are right and true,
But Oh! I don't know what to do!

And He said...

Just hold me close and take my hand.
I'll hold your heart so you can stand,
Until the day you'll see her too,
For she's with Me, and I'm with you.
