Missions

Least-Reached People Group (Hakka) — The Hakka people in Taiwan are an ethnic group with roots in southern China. Their religious practices combine aspects of Daoism, Buddhism, and Confucianism. Commonly, they worship the spirits of their ancestors, building shrines and making offerings, believing that these spirits can affect their future and fortune. About 2% of the population is Hakka Christian. Pray that they will be mobilized to bring the Gospel to the rest of Taiwan.

Copies of letters from our sponsored missionaries are available by the Mission display in the foyer.
