The Blessed Gospel is For All

One of the most beautiful truths found in Scripture is that the gospel of Jesus Christ is for everyone. God didn't send His Son for just one nation, one social class, or one type of person. The saving message of Jesus Christ is extended to all people everywhere.

Jesus declared this truth in what we call the Great Commission: "Go therefore and make disciples of all nations" (Matthew 28:19). Before ascending to heaven, Christ made it clear that the message of salvation was to be carried throughout the world. The apostles understood this mission.

Paul later wrote, "For I am not ashamed of the gospel, for it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who believes" (Romans 1:16).

The early church learned that the gospel crossed every barrier. Jews and Gentiles, rich and poor, men and women, slaves and free people all stood equal before the cross. Peter realized this when he proclaimed, "Truly I understand that God shows no partiality" (Acts 10:34). Salvation is not based on race, background, education, or social standing. It is offered to every soul willing to come to Christ in obedient faith.

This truth should shape both our attitudes and mindsets as Christians today. We must never decide that someone is "too far gone" or "unlikely to respond." The gospel changed persecutors like Saul of Tarsus, immoral people in Corinth, and idol worshipers throughout the Roman Empire. The same gospel still changes lives today.

If the gospel is truly for all people, then we must be willing to share it with all people. Our neighbors, coworkers, classmates, friends, and even strangers need the hope found in Jesus Christ. We must carry the message to Citrus County, India, and beyond. We are called to love all people enough to point them to the Savior.

At the foot of the cross, every person stands in need of grace. Thankfully, God's invitation remains open. May we never forget that the gospel is God's message of salvation for the whole world.

If you need a prayer request added, updated or removed, please use the back of the welcome card and place the card in the collection plate.
