April Theme: The Practice of Becoming
Week 17: Love as a Daily Commitment
April 26th thru May 2, 2026

Love is a Universal Principle: the outpouring of the Universal Spirit through its desire to express itself as creation. Love is the impulse, and the Law is the form that creation takes. Love is our divine nature.

Therefore, Love is not something we can give and receive; it is our divine nature. Different spiritual practices and methods help us open our inner understanding, align ourselves in an awareness of our true being and live love as revelation.

GOING DEEPER

In what recent moments or circumstances have you confused love with a passing feeling, rather than a living practice?

What thoughts, beliefs, and/or old wounds prevent you from living fully in the reciprocity of love?

Describe how you try to control how love shows up in your life?

Describe what your life will look like if you practice love as a sacred path to your true divine revelation?
