

Financial Support for Katherine Murray

Katherine is answering a call to international peacebuilding, a call that has been affirmed by her spiritual companions, home church, friends and family. She will be starting a Masters in International Peace Studies at Trinity College Dublin, Ireland this September. The estimated cost of the one-year academic program is CAD$35,500 (tuition, books, fees) plus living expenses & airfares. Katherine is planning to fund her training through a combination of personal means, income, and support from friends.
