Sermon in a Sentence: Sermon in a Sentence: Your past does not have to define your future because God is able to redeem, reshape, and fulfill His purpose through those who trust Him.

Verse for Memory and Meditation: "The scepter will not depart from Judah, nor the ruler's staff from between his feet, until He to whom it belongs shall come and the obedience of the nations shall be His." Genesis 49:10

1. Read Genesis 49:1-12. What sin are you struggling with today? Are you willing to repent, learn from your mistakes, and grow as a person or do you want this sin to define your future?

2. Read Genesis 49:13-21 and Matthew 6:25-34. Whatever your lot in life, are you willing to be content with what God gives you, whether great or small, and continue to seek first His Kingdom and His righteousness?

3. Read Genesis 49:22-33 and 1 Corinthians 15:58. Do you truly believe we will reap what we sow, or do you believe following God's plan is useless? Are you ready to just give up trusting in God, or are you willing to give yourself fully to the service of the Lord?
