As we enter another season together, let us be reminded that the Lord sees your faithfulness.

So much of what we do can feel ordinary – caring for our families, serving in the church, encouraging a friend, praying, or simply perservering through a difficult season. Yet none of it is insignificant to God.

"And let us not grow weary of doing good, for in due season we will reap, if we do not give up."
– Galatians 6:9

We may not always see the fruit of our obedience, but we can trust the Lord with the harvest. May this season be a time of drawing nearer to Christ, encouraging one another, and faithfully serving Him in whatever He has placed before us.

What a blessing to walk alongside one another as sisters in Christ. May the Lord strengthen and refresh us as we keep our eyes fixed on Him.

Suggested Books

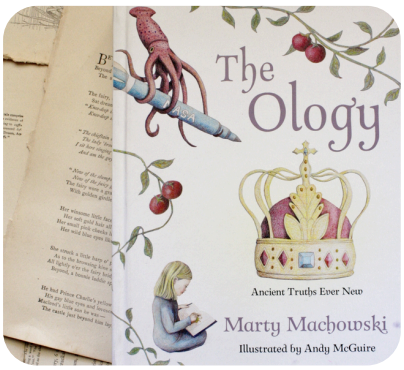

None Like Him – Jen Wilkin

A beautiful, accessible look at the attributes of God that belong to Him alone – His holiness, omniscience, sovereignty, and more. It encourages us to stop trying to be enough and instead rests in the God who is completely sufficient.

The Holiness of God – R.C. Sproul

A powerful exploration of God's holiness and how understanding who God is changes the way we see ourselves, sin, worship, and grace. Deeply theological but very readable.

The Ology – Marty Machowski

A wonderful introduction to Biblical theology for children. It walks through big truths about God, creation, sin, salvation, the church, and eternity in language children can understand, while still being genuinely theological.

The Garden, the Curtain and the Cross – Carl Laferton

A beautiful teaching of the Big Story of the Bible. Children see how sin separates us from God, why Jesus came, and how His death and resurrection opened the way for us to be with God.
